LYNCHERS SHIELDED BY WITNESSES, OFFICIAL SAYS

Assistant Attorney-General
Miller Declares Persons
Called Before the Grand Jury Refused to Give Names of Members of Bowling Green Mob.

NO INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN CASE

Jurors Discharged by Judge
Woolfolk — Prosecuting
Attorney Higginbotham
Says Inquiry Is Definitely Closed.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOWLING GREEN, Mo., May 6.—After the special grand jury convened here to investigate the lynching of Roy Hammonds, 19-year-old negro, here last Friday night, had been discharged last night without reporting an indictment, Assistant Attorney-General Albert Miller, who was sent here by Gov. Hyde to assist in the investigation, said:

There have been two crimes committed here. First murder, then perjury, the perjury being committed to shield the murderers. That's all I have to say and that's all there is to say. I saw the grand jury's notes of the testimony and they could not have indicted anybody on the evidence which those witnesses gave.

Hammonds was lynched after he had received a penitentiary sentence of 10 years for an attempted attack on Virginia Terrill, a 13-year-old white girl.

The special grand jury, convened Wednesday by Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk, reported last yesterday afternoon as follows:

"We beg to report that we have diligently and fully inquired into and investigated as to all matters within your charge to us, and especially have we inquired into the matter of mob violence and the lynching of Roy Hammonds, and beg to report that we have been unable to find a true bill of indictment against any person or persons who were connected with or participated in the formation of said mob and the lynching of said negro. We therefore respectfully report that we have nothing to present in the said matter."

Jurors Are Discharged.
Judge Woolfolk read the report aloud and looked at the jurors searchingly. "Is this all that you have, gentlemen?" he asked.

L. B. Buchanan answered "Yes." Judge Woolfolk's face hardened. "Very well, gentlemen," he said, "you are discharged, and I thank you for being so prompt in your attendance."

The grand jurors refused to discuss their report.

The members of the jury were L. B. Buchanan, farmer; J. T. Sanderson, dry goods merchant; George T. Lee, druggist; A. P. Robertson, farmer; James M. Glens, farmer; C. J. McCune, farmer; John A. Benn, farmer; D. B. Bibb, stock trader; Abe Edwards, farmer; J. D. Wright, farmer; James M. Gillam, farmer, and E. E. Brown, grocer.

No Comment by Judge.
Judge Woolfolk refused to comment on the report. "I have nothing to say," he said. "Not a word. I expressed my views in my charge to the jury. There is nothing more for me to do or say. The rest of it, you see, was in the hands of the jury. The jury had to do its part."

Prosecuting Attorney Rufus Higginbotham said: "I think that all of us have tried to do our duty. We examined 45 witnesses. So far as I know no member of the mob was identified by any witness."

He was asked if anything further would be done about it. "No," he said, "this is the end of it." He was asked what effect the failure to indict would have on future mob outbreaks. "I would rather not prophesy," he said.

Public sentiment in Bowling Green opposed the inquiry. Nobody here except Judge Woolfolk has denounced the lynching.

Judge Woolfolk himself did not expect indictments. When he was told with what speed the jury was examining the witnesses he said, "I knew it would be mighty hard to get anybody to do anything in this case. Men have to be forced into doing anything in a case like this. That is why I made my statement."

DRESS STYLES MAKE THE CURFEW LAW HARD TO ENFORCE

Chicago Chief Says He Doesn't Think a Policeman Can Pick
Out Those Under 16 Years.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 6.—Present dress styles make it impossible to enforce Chicago's new curfew ordinance which goes into effect today, Chief of Police Fitzmorris announced yesterday.

"It's impracticable," he said. "I don't know how a policeman, with the present styles, and so on, is going to be able to tell, say, whether a girl is over or under 16 years of age. To my mind responsibility for enforcement of curfew laws is upon parents."

The ordinance requires all children under 16 years of age to be off the streets between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., unless accompanied by parents, guardians or responsible adult authority, or engaged in lawful occupation requiring them to be out after the prescribed hour.

CHARGES USERS OF SALOON PHONE GOT DRINKS IN BOOTH

Assistant District Attorney in New York Says Customers Got Nickel and Glass From Bartender.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—Evidence that a telephone booth in the Bowery saloon of John Dowling was equipped with a copper tank and a spigot for violation of the prohibition law, was presented to the grand jury yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Unger.

He charged that Dowling's customers would go to the bar, deposit a dollar, and ask for change to use the telephone, receiving a nickel and an empty glass before entering the booth, where they would serve themselves.

A policeman accidentally discovered the contrivance. He went into the booth to telephone, noticed the spigot and turned it on. Dowling's arrest followed.

OMAHA BUILDING TRADES BOYCOTT ALL BUT ONE STORE

All Banks Put on Barred List in Dispute Over Curb Markets and Employers Over Wages.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., May 6.—The Omaha Building Trades Council last night adopted resolutions boycotting every business house and bank in the city except one general merchandise store as a result of a dispute between labor and the business interests over wages.

Only perishable goods would be bought at stores indiscriminately under the resolutions. The council asserts it controls more than $1,000,000 which will be drawn out if the resolutions are approved tonight by the Central Labor Union, before which body they will be placed.

U. S. WILL APPROVE LEAGUE WHEN AMENDED, VIVIANI THINKS

Objectable Features Will Be Eliminated at September Meeting,
He Predicts.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 6.—Belief that the United States could not stand aside "from the work of world regeneration," if the League of Nations covenant was drastically amended was expressed today by Rene Viviani to American correspondents.

"The League of Nations will, by the September meeting, be relieved of its cumbersome, objectionable features through amendment of the covenant," he said. "It will be rid of the articles which make it appear like a superstate. When this is done, I cannot believe a nation like the United States can keep aloof from the work of world regeneration."

CONTRACTOR, SHOT, SAYS ON DEATHBED IT WAS ACCIDENT

Kirkwood Man, Father of Nine Children, Told Minister He Must Have Fired
Shotgun in Sleep.

BODY AND MATTRESS PIERCED BY CHARGE

Wife, Awakened by Noise,
Found Gun on Floor—Says He Told Her Someone Had Shot Him.

William H. Orth, 49 years old, a carpenter-contractor, of 721 Simmons avenue, Kirkwood, father of nine children, was shot with his own shotgun, while in his bedroom and apparently while in bed, at 2:15 this morning. He died at 2:45. The fatality remained a mystery until this afternoon, when the Rev. Theodore Messier, 80, pastor of the Des Peres Lutheran church, told a Post-Dispatch reporter of a conversation at Orth's death bed, in which Orth said to the minister that he shot himself.

"Don't look on me as a suicide," the minister quoted Orth as having said him. "I must have got up in my sleep and shot myself. I don't remember getting up or taking the gun, but I must have done it."

Orth further said, according to the minister, that he loaded the shotgun several weeks ago, when he heard of several burglaries in Kirkwood. He said he knew that he was about to die, and wished to tell the whole truth, but insisted again that he had not shot himself purposely.

A coroner's jury at 8:30 a. m., after questioning members of the family, and without having learned of the statement to the clergyman, returned an open verdict of death from a gunshot wound.

Theory of Accidental Shooting.
Coroner Bracy and former Sheriff Bopp, who examined the premises after the shooting, worked out a theory that Orth might have heard a noise, and might have arisen and placed the gun in bed with him and might later have fired it accidentally with his hand, or by some movement of the bedclothes.

Mrs. Orth and their 3-year-old son were heard to leave him. His wife said at the inquest that she was awakened by the shot, and heard Orth say, "Mamma, someone shot me." She got up and felt about for a flashlight, the electric lighting current having been turned off at bedtime as a precaution against fire. When she turned on the light, she saw that her husband had fallen out of bed and had crawled toward the bathroom door. She said he said to her, "Don't go outside—someone might shoot you."

Shot Fired Through Covering.
At 2:15 a. m. Orth was lying on the electric lights, and the shotgun was lying on the floor, at the side of the bed where Orth had lain. The shot appeared to have been fired through the covering, as the quilt and blanket over Orth were pierced and powdered. Orth's wound, in the left side of the abdomen, was powder-burned. Some of the shot had penetrated the mattress after passing through the body.

Jacob Orth heard a part of his father's conversation with the minister, but did not hear him say that he shot himself. However, he inclined to the belief that his father had arisen, perhaps because of a nightmare, and had taken and discharged the shotgun while not fully awake.

Dr. H. J. Dionysius, who talked with Orth, declined to tell of the conversation.

WILLIAMSON IS FOUND GUILTY IN $189,000 ROBBERY

Mount Vernon Man Convicted by East St. Louis
Federal Jury After Hour's Deliberation.

Loren Williamson of Mount Vernon, Ill., was found guilty by a jury in the East St. Louis Federal Court this afternoon on a charge of the robbery of a mail sack containing $189,000 at Mount Vernon on Jan. 14, last.

The sentence will be imposed by the court.

The jury deliberated one hour and 20 minutes, returning its verdict at 2:50 p. m. Williamson was in the courtroom when the verdict was brought in. He slumped in his chair and cried.

The case went to the jury at 11:55 a. m., but the jurors went to luncheon before beginning their deliberations.

The arguments of attorneys occupied the morning. The last testimony was heard yesterday.

Williamson, on the witness stand in his own behalf yesterday, denied any knowledge of the robbery. Guy Kyle, who testified that he stole the sack of registered mail and that he and Williamson secreted the money, was jointly indicted with Williamson, but separate trials were granted. Curtis Williams, attorney for Kyle, said yesterday that Kyle's case will be taken up some time next week, but would not say whether his client would enter a plea of guilty.

Williamson was accompanied by his attorney and family. Kyle returned last night to Mount Vernon.

In his argument for the defense Attorney Schul charged that Kyle, who was formerly a minister, had violated two of the 10 commandments, "Thou shalt not steal" and "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." He said that Kyle did bear false witness when he stated that his first knowledge of the robbery was when Williamson entered their automobile accessory shop with the mail sack.

United States Attorney Burnside, in his argument, said that if Williamson really found the stolen money as he claimed, he would be a wizard, for he would have outguessed trained postoffice inspectors.

ACTIVE BUYING, HIGHER PRICES ON NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Sales in First Half of Session Estimated at 250,000
Shares.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—Active and confident buying characterized today's operations in the stock market, sales in the first half of the session at gains of 1 to nearly 5 points approximating 750,000 shares, a new high record for the year.

The further advance of prices was popularly attributed to over-night developments, most of which pointed to additional improvement in many lines of industry and general trade.

Credit conditions also moved toward further relaxation, as shown by the reduction of the discount rate at southern centers.

Favorable forecasts by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and other prominent fiscal authorities, who are generally unanimous in the belief that the period of liquidation in the country's affairs has ended, were among the other heartening influences.

Rails were the outstanding features of the session. Steels and railway equipment again contributed in various proportions with oils.

There were a few weak spots in the list, but their backwardness was ascribed to specific or isolated conditions.

GOVERNMENT WILL BUILD RIVER DOCK AT RUTGER STREET

Terminal Costing From $250,000 to $300,000 to Be Constructed on Tract
Owned by the City.

GEN. CONNOR IS HERE TO CLOSE THE LEASE

Holds Conference With
Mayor and Comptroller—
Asks Contractors to Plan for Immediate Work.

Brigadier-General W. D. Connor, chief of the Division of Inland and Coastwise Waterways of the War Department, came from Washington to St. Louis today to determine from Mayor Kiel if the Government River Service could obtain from the city a lease on city property at the end of Rutgers street of sufficient duration to warrant the Federal Government's expenditure of between $250,000 and $300,000 in river and rail terminals there. The property is now leased by the city on a month-to-month basis, but is not being used. The Government desires at least a 25-year lease.

The Mayor and Comptroller notified Gen. Connor they would be glad to meet the Government's request and a further conference for late today was arranged at which the details of rental and life of the lease were to be settled. Gen. Connor has called contractors to examine the plans tomorrow and it is expected that construction will proceed at once. The city is to have prior right to purchase at any time on a cost less depreciation basis.

To Resemble Municipal Docks.
The terminal will resemble in general operating practice the municipal docks at North Market street, and will have a river frontage of approximately 800 feet, one-half designed for the transfer of merchandise to and from barges by conveyor types of machinery and the remainder designed for heavy lifts by cranes from the shore to the boats. The merchandise half of the dock will be backed by a warehouse for the receipt of consignments by St. Louis shippers.

The river service has been asked by the city to consider completion of the North Market street dock rather than construction of a separate terminal in another portion of the city.

"While I believe that the 900 feet of municipal dock at North Market street must ultimately become 3000 feet or more for the accommodation of the river business," Gen. Connor said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "I believe that at this time the construction in South St. Louis is wise as a matter of education of shippers to the transportation advantage now being offered and being offered with the encouragement of the city."

The South St. Louis site is on the Terminal Railroad, as is the North Market street site, so that the transfer from rail to river can be accomplished at either place. These conditions being equal, I feel that South St. Louis manufacturers and shippers should be given the encouragement to use the river which a terminal close to their business will afford."

Thinks Line Is Success.
Concerning the progress of the barge line experiment between St. Louis and New Orleans, Gen. Connor said: "There is no question in my mind of the ultimate success of the experiment. The month of April showed revenue in excess of all operating expenses, overhead and depreciation. This condition will continue from month to month, I believe, and certainly will if the realization of freight rates in the valley now being urged is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission."

The present river traffic is largely to terminals which enjoy much lower freight rates than many intermediate points. If the terminal rates are increased to conform to a cost-of-operation or mileage basis, instead of under-cost rates to discourage river competition, then the barge line will be assured of enough increased revenue to immediately begin to attract capital to the river for investment in other barge lines."

Two More Towboats Due.
Gen. Connor said that the revenue of the barge line also would be increased by the arrival within the next month of two more towboats of the fleet of six with which the Government will equip the experiment. One, the Natchez, already is in service. The St. Louis had her dock at Point Pleasant, Va., yesterday and will come out within the next 10 days. The Vicksburg, building at Charleston, Va., will have steam up for the first time next week and will undergo trials soon after.

"The freight is there," Gen. Connor said. "We have no doubt of that. With the fleet to move large volume, the financial balances will take care of themselves."

Gen. Connor will go to Memphis tomorrow to take up details of construction of new terminals there.

FEDERAL PLUMS BEGIN TO FALL IN MISSOURI

E. Mont Reilly, an Original Harding Supporter, Named for Governor of Porto Rico.

C. C. MADISON TO BE RENOMINATED

Factional Row Over Patronage Expected to End With Half and Half Division Between Spencer and Babler Men.

By Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Federal patronage plums for Missouri, which have been held suspended by factional squabbles, are beginning to drop. President Harding today nominated E. Mont Reilly of Kansas City as governor of Porto Rico. Senator Spencer had signified his approval of the appointment.

Reilly is credited at the White House with being one of the original Harding men, not only in Missouri but in the whole country. Long before Harding indicated any intention of running, Reilly went on record with the prediction that he would be the next President. When Harry Daugherty took charge of the Senate's pre-convention campaign, Reilly offered his services and was made western manager, with headquarters at Kansas City.

Reilly claims to have been an original Roosevelt man. He supported the Bull Moose ticket in 1912, but went back to the party in 1916. He has long been active in Jackson County and State politics, being affiliated with the Babler-Dickey-Morse "old line" wing of the party. He is a real estate and loan broker.

Madison Likely to Be Renamed.
Shortly after the Reilly appointment will be the renaming of Charles C. Madison, another of the old line faction, to be Federal District Attorney of the Western Missouri District.

Madison's name was sent to the Senate during the last session, but Senator Spencer, who had not been consulted about the appointment, blocked confirmation.

Though Spencer may make formal protest against the naming of Madison, it is not expected that he will seek to prevent the appointment from going through.

A third Missouri appointment will be that of James Talbot of Cassville, Mo., as a member of the Shipping Board. This will not be sent in till the full slate of Shipping Board appointments has been made up. Talbot, originally put forward by Representative McPherson of Aurora, has the backing of the whole Missouri delegation. He is a lawyer and is now chairman of the construction claims board of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Plums for Spencer's Men.
In the further indication today that Merrill E. Otis of St. Joseph will be appointed solicitor of the Postoffice Department, those who have watched the Missouri patronage row see confirmatory evidence of an understanding whereby Spencer is to get two or three positions in exchange for mitigating his opposition to Madison. Otis was on Spencer's tentative slate of approved candidates for the Western District Attorneyship.

Otis was endorsed for the Postoffice Solicitorship by E. E. McJimsey of Springfield and C. D. Morris of St. Joseph, in an interview with Hays during their recent visit here. Babler, who was present, told Hays that in view of their over-ment, he would not oppose the appointment.

fifth Missouri appointment, in all probability, will be that of Roy Monier of Carrollton, vice chairman of the State Committee, as State prohibition commissioner. Monier is Spencer's candidate. The Babler faction has been behind Dr. E. L. Lindley.

To Share About Half and Half.
Taken together, the Missouri patronage, developments indicate, that Spencer and the Babler crowd will share about half and half in the distribution of plums.

This bears out Babler's prediction that his friends would get at least half the appointments. Babler has been here for several days, insisting that his wing of the party be taken care of. Babler talked over patronage matters with the President this morning. He said he was "delighted" with his interview and indicated that President Harding was seeking to harmonize the conclusions of McJimsey and Morris have both left the city after several days of "paying respects" to the new administration.

Their introduction to President Harding by Senator Reed rather than by Senator Spencer excited comment. Babler was waiting for Spencer to make an appointment for them to see the President.

"If Germany Accepts, Each Day of Default Will See an Advance Into Ruhr"

PARIS, May 6.—F. having accepted the system laid down by the Reparation Commission, Germany should default, every day of her default would witness an advance by the allied troops into the Ruhr Basin," Premier Briand informed the Post-Dispatch correspondent last night after his arrival from London.

This statement comes as an answer to recent queries in the French press as to what penalties will be forthcoming in the event of Germany's acceptance before May 2 and her non-compliance after that date of the reparation settlement presented to her.

The Premier appeared to be in the best of spirits. He characterized the arrangement made at London as the first workable scheme yet drafted by the allies and said he felt sure adverse criticism of it would evaporate as soon as its beneficial aspects were fully realized.

"I have no desire to see France spend 100,000,000 francs monthly on the occupation of the Ruhr," he said, "but nothing can prevent that now except a German 'yes' without any 'ifs,' 'provided that,' 'but' or 'whereas.'"

The Premier is convinced that in taking a percentage of the values of exports a true solution has been found. "It is not a tax on exports," he said, "but a measure of paying power, a barometer of trade."

AMERICA WILL BE REPRESENTED IN SUPREME COUNCIL

President and Cabinet Decide Unofficial Representative Will Join Deliberations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The administration has decided to accept the invitation to send an unofficial representative to the Supreme Council and the Council of Ambassadors in Europe.

The decision was reached after President Harding and his Cabinet had devoted virtually all of today's regular meeting to discussion of the subject. A note informing the allied powers of the acceptance will go forward shortly.

Senator Declares Proposition Is

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The American people are more concerned just now "in getting taxes revised and the Sheriff retired to the back-ground than in any academic discussion" of international disarmament, Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, a Republican member of the Senate Naval Committee, declared today in a formal statement.

"I look on this disarmament proposition as a purely idealistic and nebulous theory," said Senator Penrose.

HOUSE REFUSES IMMEDIATE ACTION ON NEGRO RESOLUTION

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—After a two-hour fight the House refused today to consider immediately a resolution directing a sweeping investigation of alleged disenfranchisement of the negro before drafting a re-apportionment bill.

The question was brought up by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, on the "ground of the highest constitutional privilege." Speaker Clegg sustained a motion of order by Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the Republican leader, that the resolution was not privileged under rules of the House or the Constitution. Tinkham appealed. On a straight vote, however, the Speaker's ruling was sustained.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS CHAMPIONS PLAY GAMES FOR HARDING

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Davis cup championship tennis team played a series of exhibition matches for President Harding today on the White House tennis court. The Washington newspaper correspondents and several high officials of the Government were the President's guests.

Although Mr. Harding does not play tennis, he was an ardent devotee of the game in his earlier years.

Ebert Negotiating With Party Leaders on Formation of New Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, May 6.—President Ebert resumed negotiations with party leaders today, but leaders of the majority Socialist party are stubbornly opposed to participating in the formation of a cabinet containing representatives of the German People's party, and it is believed that the Socialist-Democratic party, headed by Philipp Scheidemann, former chancellor, has definitely rejected an invitation to join a coalition ministry.

The President has held conferences with Reichstag leaders belonging to the present coalition and the majority Socialist party, but has not succeeded in untangling the cabinet crisis precipitated by the sudden resignation of the Fehrenbach ministry on Wednesday night. Former Chancellor Hermann Mueller and Otto Wels have represented the majority Socialists at these conferences.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, leader of the German People's party, is prominently mentioned as chancellor or foreign minister in the new cabinet.

Supreme Council Demands Fall to to Satisfy Some Paris Papers.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 6.—The allied terms of reparation, which were presented to the German war burdens commission here last night, are believed today to have been received in Berlin. Official consideration of them, it is thought, may await the formation of a new ministry to succeed that of Konstantine Fehrenbach, which resigned Wednesday night.

The agreement reached by the Supreme Allied Council, in fixing the reparation demands of the Entente, failed to satisfy a majority of the newspapers of Paris, which commented today in varying degrees of gloom on the situation as it stands at present.

"It is not, perhaps, all we might have hoped," says the Journal, "but it is, perhaps, all that it is possible to obtain in the present state of mind of our allies."

"If we do not put our hand on Germany's collar," declares the Figaro, "we will not put our hand into her pocket. The London conference let slip an opportunity for action."

Former Premier Clemenceau's newspaper, L'Homme Libre, is even more emphatic, saying:

"Germany will not pay any more than she will disarm, and papers will not force her to."

A decisive step has been made by the allies toward the execution of the Versailles treaty," says Premier Briand's organ, the Eclair, "and henceforth it will not be possible for them

INSURGENT POLES' LEADER REPORTED HELD BY ALLIES

Korfanty and Entire Staff Said to Have Been Taken in Custody by Plebiscite Commission.

INSURGENTS ENTER GROSS STREHLITZ

They Are Declared to Be Forcibly Recruiting Males From 16 to 45, Including Germans.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, May 6.—Unconfirmed reports from Sosnowice early today say that Adalbert Korfanty, former Polish Plebiscite Commissioner in Upper Silesia, who has proclaimed himself leader of the Polish insurgents in that territory, has been arrested by the international plebiscite commission, together with his entire staff.

Gross Strehlitz Entered at Night by Polish Insurgents.

By the Associated Press.
OPPELN, Upper Silesia, May 6.—Polish insurgent forces entered Gross Strehlitz, in Central Upper Silesia, about 20 miles southeast of here, at 10 o'clock last night. The casualties are given as one French soldier killed and two wounded and several Italians wounded.

The Poles agreed to permit the entire and local troops in Gross Strehlitz to remain there, in their barracks.

The revolt area is reported to have reached nearly to this city.

The insurgents are declared in messages received here to be forcibly recruiting males, including Germans, between 16 and 45 years of age, in the vicinity of Richeau and Schoppitz.

Two hundred Italian soldiers, commanded by Col. Bond of the British army, evacuated Gross Strehlitz last night. At that time the town was under artillery fire from Polish insurgents.

The Poles are reported to be in possession of the entire eastern section of Silesia as far north as Rosenberg, which the commission heard they occupied yesterday without opposition. Fighting is still going on at Rybnik, in Southern Silesia.

Organization of civilian police to the number of 5000 is contemplated here. These police would be Upper Silesian Germans, it is indicated.

When a copy of the proclamation issued by Adalbert Korfanty, in which he declared himself Governor of Upper Silesia, reached the international commission here, a French official said:

"Korfanty is now a rebel, and should we apprehend him, he will be treated as such."

The proclamation, which is understood, was issued at Sosnowice, where Korfanty has his headquarters, demanded obedience to Nowina Siliwa, named as chief of the insurgents, and Korfanty of pain of death. It also threatened thieves and plunderers with the death sentence.

French authorities here accepted Korfanty's action without surprise, saying it would make little difference with the eventual outcome.

"With sufficient forces," said the official, "we are doing everything possible to put an end to this movement, and we hope to have the situation in hand in two or three days. Had the Germans not behaved so well, conditions would have been more serious."

ident, and when Reed volunteered his service, they accepted. Reed, however, declares he is taking no part in the Republican factional difficulties.

Disatisfaction With Spencer.
There is considerable disatisfaction among Missouri Congressmen with Spencer's "failure to produce." His alleged dilatory attitude is held responsible for the futility and smallness of the plums thus far handed to the State. The Congressmen expected better of him when they signed a memorial recently making him their spokesman.

The visit here of McJannet and Morris was partly for the purpose of consulting with Missouri Republicans about the future of the Kansas City Journal, recently purchased by Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City. Dickey will make the paper a State Republican organ. It was learned that McJannet and Morris, both of whom are newspaper publishers, will be associated with him in the enterprise.

Woman Dies After Operation.
Mrs. Lillian Hanno, 22 years old, at 3469 South Spring avenue, died at the city hospital yesterday as the result of an operation. She was the wife of Theodor Hanno and the mother of two children. She was taken to the hospital April 12. To doctors, nurses and policemen she refused to tell anything about the operation further than to say she had paid $15 for it and had given her word not to tell about it.

BID ON STREET WORK SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

Document Was Not in Box When It Was Opened Tuesday, but Was on Top of It Later.

An investigation is being made by the Board of Public Service into the disappearance and reappearance of a bid of the Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co. on the improvement of Page boulevard from Vandeventer to Taylor avenues, concerning which complaint has been made by John C. Heman, president of the company.

Bids were opened Tuesday. The Trinidad bid was not read. That of the Moreno-Burkham Construction Co., at $87,500, was found to be the lowest. The award has not yet been made. Tuesday afternoon Daniel J. Boone, secretary of the Trinidad company, asked Charles Kunsenueller, acting secretary of the Board, why the Trinidad bid had not been read. Kunsenueller said there was no Trinidad bid in the box. Boone said Heman's son deposited it 15 minutes before the box was opened.

Wednesday morning the cabinet in which the box is kept was opened in the presence of President Kunsenueller and Heman. The envelope containing the bid was found on the box. The box is connected by a chute with a slot in the counter, into which bids are dropped. Tests showed that the envelope could not have dropped through the chute to the top of the box. Besides, when the bids were opened the box was taken out and the contents dumped.

Heman was before the Board this morning. His son is to appear this afternoon. City Counselor Hamilton has been consulted. It is foreseen that no matter what action the Board takes there is likely to be litigation. It is expected that a re-letting will be ordered.

NAT GOLDSTEIN INTERCEDES FOR INDIANAPOLIS MOTORS CONCERN

Company to Get Permit to Sell Stock in Missouri After Several Months' Delay.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 6.—Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein of St. Louis arrived in Jefferson City yesterday afternoon, with Francis A. Riley, a director in the Duesenberg Automobile Motors Co., incorporated, of Indianapolis, which has had pending before the State Blue Sky Department for several months an application for a permit to sell 500 shares of preferred stock of the par value $100 each in Missouri.

Goldstein went with Riley to the office of Gus O. Nations, Blue Sky Supervisor, where a hearing was held before Bank Commissioner Hughes who has jurisdiction over the department. Hughes said after the hearing that the permit will be issued, providing the Duesenberg company agrees that in the event it defaults on four of the guaranteed semi-annual dividends on the stock, voting power will be extended to holders of the stock, and provided certain other conditions have been complied with.

Edward W. Foristel, attorney and Republican politician of St. Louis, appeared at one previous hearing in behalf of the Duesenberg company and one call in a similar connection was made by A. H. H. Neideruecke, member of the Board of Aldermen.

LOYD GEORGE CARRIED THE DAY IN COUNCIL

Action Affords Germany Chance to Escape Occupation of Ruhr, as French Had Decided Upon.

By JAMES M. TEOHY.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, May 6.—Premier Lloyd George carried the day with flying colors at the session of the Supreme Council by affording to Germany what is considered as fair opportunity to obviate the occupation of the Ruhr district, a course which the French delegates came here resolved, and deeply pledged, to compel the council to adopt.

What the effect may be in France remains to be seen, but it may be said positively that the week's proceedings have not contributed to an increase of harmonious feeling among the Entente Powers. France must now realize that Italy is as good as Great Britain to any further anti-German adventures, and that even Belgium cannot be relied upon to take a reckless plunge into the unknown in the French wake.

French delegates cannot understand why Premier Lloyd George was so furiously in making what were regarded in some quarters as impossible demands upon Germany at the peace conference, should now throw all his weight against the enforcement of these demands. They attribute it to the supposition that the French are in a ring of international Jewish bankers, who seem guilty of the intolerable offense of advising measures to stabilize European trade and finance and who oppose a rush of Europe into ruinous difficulties in order to satisfy the insatiable but perfectly natural French feeling against Germany.

The fact is that Premier Lloyd George has changed his attitude as a matter of expediency, as he has always done and is always prepared to do. It is not to be supposed that anyone feels entirely confident that the allies will ever be able to collect from Germany all the money the Supreme Council has just decided Germany owes. The French realize this prospect as well as do the others. Their position is that the only way of getting anything substantial from Germany is the French way. The other Powers saw very different possibilities in the Ruhr occupation and doubted its efficacy as a debt-extracting agency.

There is the highest French authority for saying that the French are now somewhat disposed to hold that the Rhine occupation already in force may prove sufficient guarantee, so far as territorial guarantee can be sufficient, for carrying out the terms of the present ultimatum. That occupation may be extended under the treaty, so long as Germany shall fail to satisfy the Reparations Committee that she is fulfilling the terms of the treaty.

GERMAN LEADERS MEET TO ACT ON ALLIED ULTIMATUM

It includes one of the finest residences in the exclusive Chelsea Beach section, and Mrs. Drischman recently offered it, rent free, to President Harding for a "summer White House." The principal ground for declining was said to be that the grounds were insufficient to afford the privacy the President desires.

Mrs. Griswold materially increased her own considerable fortune through management of her local and Baltimore properties by Mrs. Drischman.

Mrs. Griswold for years had made her home in an obscure settlement eight miles from here on the main land and died from apoplexy last week. Her estate here is valued at $30,000 in realty and more than $100,000 in personal property.

With the exception of the bequest to her daughter and granddaughters, and remembrances to her servants and a few friends, all of Mrs. Griswold's estate is devised to Mrs. Drischman, who is made executrix.

The dead woman was a notable figure in society of Baltimore, New York, Paris and Rome. Her first husband was Melville Patterson, of the Baltimore family of that name, one of whose members, Betsy Patterson, became the wife of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon Bonaparte. Patterson died and his widow married David Stewart, whom she divorced.

Francis Baylies Griswold, who has an Atlantic City home, 3440 Ventnor avenue, married Mrs. Alice Gerry Stewart in May, 1914. Mrs. Griswold fell heir to an estate valued at $250,000 through the death of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pangloss, wife of a Greek diplomat. She had been separated from her husband for some years and was about 60 years old.

Woman Leaves Estate to Butcher's Wife, Her Adviser

Mrs. Alice Gerry Griswold Gives All Her Property to Genius in Real Estate Speculation, Who Helped Her Increase Fortune.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6.—Mrs. Alice Gerry Griswold, wife of Francis Baylies Griswold, whose New York address is the Union Club, and niece of Elbridge T. Gerry, left practically all of her large estate to the wife of an Atlantic City butcher, a woman of unusual financial genius, by her will filed for probate yesterday.

The will cuts off her daughter by her first husband, Countess da Conubia of Milan, Italy, with a bequest of $600 for the daughter and $500 each for the latter's two daughters. A contest by the Griswold family is expected.

The heiress is Mrs. Mary M. Drischman, who helped her husband, George Drischman, in their butcher shop at Arctic and Massachusetts avenues, a few years ago, but developed as an almost uncanny foresight in real estate speculation, became an intimate of Mrs. Griswold and garnered for herself a fortune estimated at more than $500,000.

COLBY PREDICTS U. S. WILL JOIN IN PEACE

"America Will Make Plain Her Desire to Fulfill Duty to the World," He Says in London.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 6.—Confidence in an enduring British-American amity and a firm belief that America would "come into the peace" in a manner to make plain her desire to fulfill her duty in the world, were expressed by Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State in speaking at the American Luncheon Club today.

Mr. Colby, who was the guest of honor at the luncheon, touched only briefly upon the American attitude toward participation in European affairs.

"What a fortunate thing it is that the Anglo-American relations continue on a line of solid and immutable friendship," Colby said, referring to the Anglo-American relations.

"I observe much public discussion," he continued, "of the relations between our peoples, and now and then the suggestion that there is something fragile in our ancient amity. Perish the unfounded thought, I say. British and American friendship is the sturdiest fact which exists today in the field of international relations."

"Such relations between great nations can never be strained. They may be enlivened on occasion, but they can never be imperilled."

Colby said, referring to the Anglo-American relations.

LIQUORS STOLEN FROM 'DRY' OFFICES IN MANY CITIES

Supervisor Gates, Witness Before New Orleans Grand Jury, Says Government Was at Fault.

ST. LOUIS OFFICE INCLUDED IN LIST

Supervisor of Southwest District Declares Goods Have Disappeared From Virtually Every Office.

By the Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, La., May 6.—That seized liquors have been stolen from prohibition offices in St. Louis, Kansas City, New Orleans and virtually every city where seizures have been made and that he had known liquor was missing from the local office for the last two or three months, were statements made by David Gates, prohibition supervisor of the southwestern district, in a formal statement to the press late yesterday, after he had appeared before the Federal grand jury investigating the alleged disappearance of liquor from the local office.

"I knew two or three months ago that liquor had been stolen from the New Orleans storeroom, the same as it has been stolen from prohibition offices in St. Louis, Kansas City and practically every place else where liquor has been seized," Supervisor Gates asserted.

Gates has resigned as supervisor of the southwestern district. He was appointed inheritance tax attorney for the State of Arkansas two weeks ago. "I may remain in charge of the southwestern district for two or three days, or it may be two or three weeks before my successor is appointed," he said.

Gates was the first witness before the Federal grand jury yesterday. He was followed by Theodore Jaques, local prohibition agent. Maj. R. B. Keating of Little Rock, who was in charge of the local office for a short time while Jaques was temporarily transferred to St. Louis, is scheduled to appear before the investigating body today.

Gates Expected to Appear Before Grand Jury in St. Louis. United States Attorney Carroll said today he had requested Supervising Federal Prohibition Agent Gates to be in St. Louis to appear before the grand jury now in session and expected his arrival here tomorrow.

The District Attorney said he had no knowledge of any liquors being missing from the storerooms in the Federal Building basement here and had summoned Gates to appear in several cases in which he had taken an active part at the time arrests in them were made.

Checking Liquor Stores. George M. Williams, in charge of the local prohibition enforcement office, with members of his squad, has been busy for a week or more checking over the contents of the basement here. He said yesterday he did not know whether any liquor had been taken from the storerooms, and was in doubt whether he could determine, as he had no knowledge of what the rooms contained prior to his taking charge, or what might have been removed before his arrival here.

Since the Volstead act became effective there have been several investigations of the conduct of members of the local prohibition enforcement squad, the members of this squad having brought to the attention of the authorities at Washington charges of misconduct by five specially assigned investigators last December, of which Williams was the head. Charges were pending against several men when Supervisor Gates was instructed March 1 to reduce his squad by seven men on March 15. When he dismissed the seven he said they were all discharged in accordance with the order from Washington to reduce his force and for no other reasons.

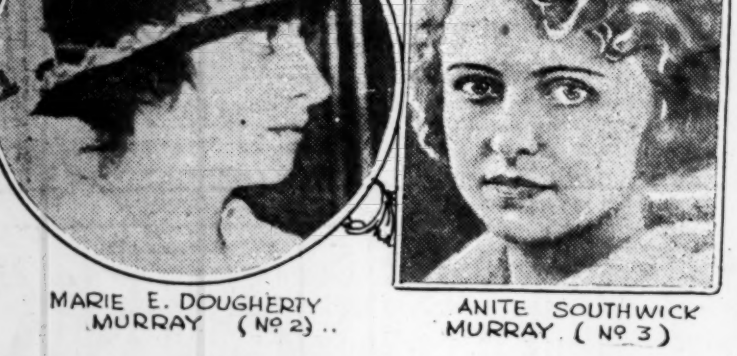

No Serious Charges. Gates, following the investigation made by a special squad in December, said to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch that their work had brought to light nothing that could result in serious charges against any member of the local squad. Williams at the conclusion of that investigation was transferred to Kansas City and was succeeded here by Theodore Jaques of New Orleans, who remained here for about six weeks, until Williams again was sent here.

Since his return Williams has ignored members of the original enforcement squad here who worked under Assistant Supervisor Frank T.

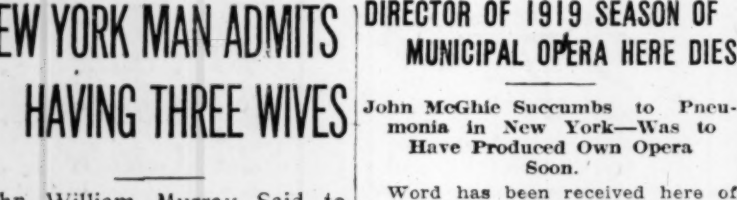

Former Soldier of New York, and Three Women He Admits Marrying

JOHN W. MURRAY.

MARIE E. DOUGHERTY MURRAY (No. 2).

ANITE SOUTHWICK MURRAY (No. 3).

NEW YORK MAN ADMITS HAVING THREE WIVES

John William Murray Said to Deny Ever Trying to Conceal News From Wives.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, May 6.—An addition to the list of plural marriages is the case of John William Murray, who is said to deny that he ever tried to keep from any of three wives the existence of two others. Two of the wives are actresses, the third a war worker, and the overmarried husband is a publisher.

Murray's first marriage was in 1914. He was then 26 years old, of medium height, sandy-haired, blue-eyed, fluent of speech, with a confidence of bearing that easily established him with those whose good will he sought. He was a commercial photographer.

His First Marriage. On Feb. 23, 1914, he engaged in a tete-a-tete in a Broadway theater box with a girl he never before had met. Within an hour they were on their way to Brooklyn, where Assistant City Clerk Thomas H. Maher issued a license. The next day they were married in the Little Church Around the Corner by the Rev. Dr. G. C. Houghton.

Murray said in the license application he was born in Chicago, the son of William McKendrick Murray, native of Scotland, and Elizabeth Hickson Murray, native of Ireland. The bride said she was Marie Yvonne Posner, 25, of Brooklyn, a native of England. Both said they were never married before.

Professionally she is today known as Yvonne Pavis and appears in the Lasky productions at Hollywood, Cal.

Murray in 1917 sued her for divorce but dropped the case. In 1918 his wife filed a divorce suit in Los Angeles, accusing him of cruelty. The California courts in 1919 refused to grant a decree.

In 1918 Murray gave up his work as one of the publishers of a string of fashion and movie magazines and entered the Liberty Loan organization. In this capacity, in July, he met Miss Marie Elizabeth Dougherty, a worker with the National Security League, an enthusiastic, mild-mannered and refined young woman. Murray the next day enlisted in the Marine Corps and two days after meeting her induced Miss Dougherty to marry him, July 15, in the Hall of Records. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Dubois H. Loux.

Second Marriage. Mrs. Murray No. 2 has retained counsel to bring annulment proceedings on the ground that Murray had another wife living. In the middle of December last at a gathering of the Kit Kat Klub in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, he met a girl to whom he had been introduced two years previous. This girl on Dec. 24 became Wife No. 3. She is blonde, slender, of medium height, blue-eyed, soft spoken. Her name is Miss Anite May Southwick, daughter of a Streator (Ill.) merchant. Miss Southwick was in the "Three Live Ghosts" company under the stage name of Ann Warwick. Their marriage was performed by the Rev. Dr. William Matthews, a Presbyterian clergyman, and the license was obtained in Brooklyn. In it Murray described himself as a merchant, 33 years old, and never before married.

Wife No. 3 in March asked for a separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. She alleged that one night her husband bruised her and caused her mental anguish, and that on another occasion, at a Palm Garden dance, he became intoxicated and insulted her.

DOCTOR TELLS OF A CONFESSION BY MRS. STILLMAN

Buffalo Chiropractor Testifies Patient Told Him Husband Wasn't Father of Expected Child.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 6.—Dr. Hugh Russell, a chiropractor, of Buffalo, N. Y., testifying yesterday at a hearing in the divorce suit brought by James A. Stillman, New York banker, declared that Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, while under his treatment in April, 1918, told him that her husband was not the father of an expected child. The child, Guy Stillman, who is named after his mother and Fred Beavault, an Indian guide, in the divorce suit, was born the following November.

While the testimony was given behind closed doors, the defendant's attorneys admitted that it had been offered and conditionally accepted by the referee over their objections. The question of its final admissibility probably will be argued in the trial courts.

Objection to Testimony. Sundry objections to the testimony were made by defendant's counsel, who declared that it was not only confidential and privileged, therefore inadmissible, but also a violation of professional ethics.

Mrs. Stillman was present throughout the hearing. She was driven to the hearing room by her son, James Stillman, who told reporters that he would stick to his mother and would testify in her behalf if necessary. Stillman, who is also accused of infidelity in the wife's answer, was not present.

Cross-examination of Dr. Russell will be started at the next hearing, tentatively set for May 18.

A letter said to have been written by Beavault to Mrs. Stillman and to have contained terms of endorsement, was admitted as evidence over objections of the defense after the hand-writing had been identified as Beavault's by Bernard Kelly, for three years superintendent of the Stillman summer home at Pleasantville.

Supreme Court Justice McHugh at previous hearings on alimony motions had barred this letter and several others accredited to the guide, on the ground that they had been presented on the affidavit of the plaintiff, who was not a competent witness in the action against his wife.

The letters are alleged to have been written to Mrs. Stillman in this country by Beavault, then in Canada. A Buffalo hotel clerk, who testified yesterday, and whose name was not learned, is understood to have been called in an effort to show that Mrs. Stillman once engaged two rooms at the hotel for herself and one of her children at a time when Beavault was said to have been in Buffalo.

Guy S. Stillman, the infant whose paternity is questioned by the banker, was not in court yesterday.

$10,000 DEMURRAGE CHARGE ON $20,000 COAL SHIPMENT

Railroad's Fees Climb at $445 a Day While Dispute Over Quality Is Unsettled.

A shipment of 89 carloads of coal is standing in railroad yards here with a daily demurrage charge of $445 accumulating against it, which so far amounts to about $10,000, because the consignee's principal refuses to accept it and the consignor has thus far refused to take it back. There are between 3500 and 4500 tons in the shipment, which was priced at about $20,000 at the West Virginia mines. Freight charges, which have not been paid because of the dispute, equal to another $20,000, so that the total involved is about $50,000.

The coal was consigned by the Cleveland & Western Coal Co. of Cleveland, O., to the M. W. Warren Coke Co. of St. Louis, coal purchasing agents for the Laclede Gas Light Co. The Laclede company said the coal was not fit for its use in making gas, because it has more than the required maximum of ash content, which is 8 per cent. The shippers say the ash content is not too high. Meanwhile, the coal is standing in the Missouri Pacific Carondelet plant.

Demurrage on each car began 48 hours after its arrival, the rate being $2 a car a day for four days and $5 a day thereafter. The cars began arriving a month ago. Missouri Pacific officers said today that unless the consignor and consignee reach an agreement as to the payment of the charges and disposition of the coal this afternoon, legal notice of a levy on the shipment will be given tomorrow and the coal will be sold at 10 a. m. Thursday at the railroad's freight house, Broadway and Robert street.

Caesar testified that the whistle was taken off the day before to be repaired and when the truck skidded as it approached where Dr. Hill was standing, he could only shout a warning. Dr. Hill was struck and knocked down and one of the rear wheels passed over him. The jury found that Caesar had not been criminally careless and asked that he be not held. Caesar said a bump in the street caused the truck to skid.

Dr. Hill's funeral will be at 1:30 p. m. Sunday from 4321 Olive street to St. Martha's Cemetery.

the two chasers making the trip to Keokuk recently arrived in St. Louis from New Orleans. Each bears a service chevron denoting six months' service in foreign waters. YOUTH DIES AFTER HIS MOTOR CYCLE RUNS INTO AUTO

Albert Bergman of East St. Louis Receives Fractured Skull in Driving Into Machine on Way From School

Albert Bergman, 18 years old, of 1373 North Thirty-fifth street, East St. Louis, a high school student, died at 9 o'clock last night in the Deaconess Hospital there from a fracture of the skull inflicted when his motor cycle ran into an automobile at North Park Drive and Waverly avenue as he was on his way home from school in the afternoon.

The automobile, struck on one side by the head-on cycle, was knocked from the road, and ran down an embankment. The driver of the automobile, Louis Reichman, of 1228 St. Louis avenue, was not hurt, and Kenneth Gregory, 16, who was riding with Bergman on the motor cycle, escaped injury.

Driver Whose Truck Killed Physician, 73, Exonerated at Inquest.

The killing of Dr. Russell S. Hill, 73 years old, of 2255 Yale avenue, Maplewood, on Ethel avenue, Richmond Heights, by a truck yesterday afternoon, was due to "negligence and failure to equip the truck with a signal warning," the coroner's verdict stated. The truck belongs to the Union Quarry Co. It was driven by Julius Caesar of 3116 Park avenue.

Caesar testified that the whistle was taken off the day before to be repaired and when the truck skidded as it approached where Dr. Hill was standing, he could only shout a warning. Dr. Hill was struck and knocked down and one of the rear wheels passed over him. The jury found that Caesar had not been criminally careless and asked that he be not held. Caesar said a bump in the street caused the truck to skid.

Dr. Hill's funeral will be at 1:30 p. m. Sunday from 4321 Olive street to St. Martha's Cemetery.

Robert Jenkins, 47, of 511A South Ewing avenue, a negro, suffered amputation of all the toes on his left foot at City Hospital No. 2 yesterday after the foot had been run over by a truck driven by John Wilson, of 3140 Park avenue when Jenkins tried to board the truck as it started after delivering flour to a grocery at Hamilton and Highland avenues.

USE OF COSMETICS BY TEACHERS IS FORBIDDEN

Superintendent of New Bedford, Mass., Would Send Them Home to Wash Faces.

By the Associated Press. NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 6.—The use of cosmetics by teachers in the public schools was forbidden in an order issued today by Supt. Allen P. Keith. Explaining it, he said: "Teachers must have clean faces. Children coming to school with dirty faces are sent home to wash them. I believe the same rule should be applied to teachers who use powder and paint."

The order also decreed shortened skirts, but left their length to the teachers' discretion.

HE MET WHEN IN GERMANY

Fred Schuhwerk, Successful After Two Years in Obtaining Admission of Fiancee to America. Fred Schuhwerk, 23 years old, of 4412 South Grand avenue, and Miss Jenny Dietsch, 21, of Trier, Germany, will be married Wednesday at St. Anthony's Church, Meramec street and Michigan at 144th street. Schuhwerk, who is a former member of the American army of occupation, met his bride-elect when with the Eighty-ninth Division at Trier. When Schuhwerk returned to the United States in May, 1919, he promised either to return and bring his fiancée back or to send for her. After being demobilized, a long struggle to secure permission from the Government to allow Miss Dietsch to enter the country was begun. Permission was finally obtained and on April 19 the girl, who had lost one brother in the German army, started for the United States. She arrived in St. Louis April 25.

Mrs. Marie Schuhwerk, mother of Fred Schuhwerk, said that she was going to have the young couple live with her for at least a year, during which time she expects to Americanize the bride.

"After that," she said, "Jenny will be able to care for her own home."

IDEAL WEIGHT

It is generally conceded that one's weight is a fair indicator of one's health.

Here is a rule to determine what you should weigh to indicate perfect health:

Multiply number of inches over 5 feet in height by 5½ and add 110.

If under 5 feet, multiply number of inches under 5 feet by 5½ and subtract from 110.

The wholesome, nutritious foods served at CHILDS are an invaluable aid to maintaining or attaining an ideal second degree murder in the shooting and killing of John T. Farrell of 3712 Natural Bridge avenue, business agent of an electrical workers' union building outside Building Trades Council Hall, 2455 Locust street, the night of Oct. 19 last. It was expected the jury would begin its deliberations this afternoon.

The taking of testimony closed at last night's session when Schraedel took the stand in his own behalf and testified that he fired in self-defense after Farrell had fired at him. He said he met Farrell and George Jennings, a member of the union, just outside the entrance to the hall and that when he spoke to Farrell in a friendly manner Farrell responded by striking him with his fist and breaking his nose. He testified that he then knocked Farrell down and that he was attacked by Jennings, who drew a knife and slashed at him, cutting his coat sleeve. He exhibited the coat to the jury.

Schraedel said that Farrell attempted to rise and at the same time drew a revolver and fired a shot at him. He then fired a shot at Farrell. He denied that he took Farrell's revolver when he ran away.
Emmett Barnes, an electrical contractor, 1514 South Grand avenue, testified that he saw Farrell fire the first shot and then heard a second shot and saw Farrell fall.
R. Underwood of 2838A Kennedy avenue, and his wife, Lucy, who were seated in an automobile in front of the hall, testified that they saw Farrell fire the first shot.

"THIRD TERM RACE THE LIMIT," ADMITS KIEL AT TESTIMONIAL

Mayor and Other Re-elected Officials Guests at Dinner-Dance at Riverview Club.

A testimonial dinner-dance was given by the Riverview Club last night in honor of Mayor Kiel, Comptroller Nolte and Aldermen Kuhs (First Ward), William Niederluecke (Third Ward) and August H. Niederluecke (Nineteenth Ward), all members of the club, and all of whom were re-elected last month. Henry S. Caulfield, the Mayor's appointee as City Counselor, acted as toastmaster. He was introduced by Charles P. van Graafeiland, president of the club, as a prospective member.

All honor guests made after-dinner speeches and there was dancing until a late hour. The guests' table was decorated with a 12-inch image of an elephant, symbolic of Republicanism; a couple of crowing roosters, symbolic of the local Republican victory, and flowers. A large American flag was draped overhead.

"Anyone who gets the idea that running for an office for the third time is a cinch had better get it out of his head," said the Mayor in his speech. "It's bad enough the first time, worse the second, and the third time it's the limit. I had to stand a great deal of criticism on my third race, and now I desire to give St. Louis the best that is in me and I want the co-operation of everybody to make St. Louis a bigger and better city."

PROPERTY OWNER AIDS POLICE IN LIQUOR RAID

Voluntary Agent Had Rented Room on Cass Avenue—Other Arrests Made.

Philip Franzini of 1472A Laurel street, owner of the premises at 1012 Cass avenue, went on a tour of inspection of his properties yesterday and what he found caused him to communicate with Capt. Stinger at the Carr Street Police Station.

The Captain, with other policemen, went to the Cass avenue address with the landlord and entered a rear room where they arrested Joseph Wiesniewski, 24, of 1209 Howard street, who had a receipt showing he had paid a month's rent of $2 for the room to an agent unknown to the owner. In the room the police confiscated two barrels of corn mash, a sack of corn, 50 pounds of sugar, yeast, syrup, an oil stove and a pint of distilled spirits. In the basement under 1010 Cass avenue, in the same building, the police found a still. Wiesniewski admitted renting the room but said he did not know how the mash and other articles came into the place.

On the second floor, over a garage in the rear of 3423 Hickory street, the police yesterday arrested a man, who gave his name as John Smith, 35 years old, of 3715 Polson avenue, on a charge of operating a still in the place. Several barrels of mash were found and destroyed. Smith, the police say, rented the garage from Mrs. Alice Herold of 1423 Hickory street under the name of "Albert Lang".

MAN, SHOT IN SALOON ROW APRIL 23, DIES

Saloon Keeper, Held, Says He Fired in Self-Defense, Charges
Victim Struck Wife.

William A. Miller, 36 years old, of 3138 Easton avenue, an ironworker, died at the city hospital yesterday afternoon of bullet wounds in the abdomen, inflicted April 23, last, when he was shot by Alva J. Dowdle, 52 years old, in Dowdle's saloon at 3505 Easton avenue. Dowdle has been a prisoner at the Dayton Street Police Station since the shooting, having been unable to obtain bond.

According to information given to the police at the time of the shooting, Dowdle's wife, Anna, was behind the bar about 3 p. m., when Miller entered and demanded whiskey. When Mrs. Dowdle told him she had none he struck her, she said, and she took a revolver from under the counter, but this did not stop Miller, and he chased her into the rear yard.

Dowdle told policemen he was entering the yard at the time and he took the revolver from his wife and forced Miller to go back into the saloon. He said Miller made a move toward his hip pocket and he fired four shots at Miller in self-defense.

Two days after the shooting Miller at the city hospital told a policeman he went to the saloon about noon to collect $3 which Dowdle owed him, and Dowdle said he had no money. Miller said he told Dowdle he would return at 3 p. m. He did this, he said, and got into an argument with Dowdle and his wife and "in the course of the argument" was shot by Dowdle. When Miller was taken to the hospital the diagnosis entered on the record was "gunshot wounds and acute alcoholism."

WATCHMAN FOR CITY ENDS LIFE

John Markey, 52 years old, of 1418 Cleary street, was found dead at 8:15 a. m. today in a bedroom of his house by his wife, Mrs. Kate Cleary. An empty bottle which had contained poison was at his side.

Mrs. Cleary told the police her husband had attempted to end his life on a previous occasion. Several days ago he took her downtown with him and made his will, she said. Cleary was a watchman for the city, in the street paving department. He had been ill.

Bank Robbers Get $3000.

By the Associated Press. WOLSEY, S. D., May 6.—Two men entered the Wolsey State Bank late yesterday, held up Robert Bager, assistant cashier, then loaded $3000 in currency and silver into a sack and sped away in a waiting motor car. Bager fired several shots after the departing robbers, but apparently none of them took effect. Police authorities in neighboring towns have been notified to look for them.

Two Friends Talk

"Did you ever try ED. PINAUD'S LILAC Perfume?"
"Not until recently. I have used ED. PINAUD'S Eau de Quinine Hair Tonic for years, but as I have the 'high price' perfume habit, I never tried the LILAC until a friend sent me a bottle."

"How do you like it?"

"I like it so well that it has cured me of paying three dollars an ounce for 'fancy' perfumes. In using ED. PINAUD'S Lilac I find that its odor blends delightfully with the fragrance of ED. PINAUD'S Hair Tonic."

"I too have noticed that the odors of these two preparations blend finely; this is a great advantage to women who use them."

ED. PINAUD'S LILAC

MAY DE SOUSA WOULDN'T QUIT STAGE, SO SHE'S DIVORCED

Husband Says Opera Singer Deserted Him When He Insisted She Abandon Foodfight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, May 6.—May De Sousa, light opera star, was divorced yesterday by Raymond G. Grant. He charged desertion. This was her second adventure in matrimony to hit disaster.

"We have a daughter, Frances, who is 7 years old," Grant said. "I thought the stage was a bad place for the child and was unwilling that my wife should continue a theatrical career. She finally deserted me on Feb. 24, 1919. She took the child with her."

Grant asked for custody of the child. Decision on this phase of the divorce was reserved.

It was 18 years ago that the pretty De Sousa opened the gates of an operatic career by her singing of Alderman John J. ("Bathhouse") Coughlin's famous "Dear Midnight of Love." After that she starred in "The Tenderfoot," "Babes of Toyland," "The Wizard of Oz" and other musical successes of the day. She is the daughter of a Chicago policeman.

75-Cent Chicken Dinner Returns.

By the Associated Press.
GEORGETOWN, Ky., May 6.—The old "chicken dinner for 75 cents" sign is back again. A Georgetown restaurant this week resurrected the sign, which was discarded during the war, and is now featuring its chicken dinners at the old popular price. The menu, besides chicken, includes mashed potatoes, asparagus tips on toast, green peas in timbales, sliced tomatoes, baked apples with marshmallows, Waldorf salad, strawberries with ice cream and coffee, iced tea or milk.

Stokes and Stillman Divorce Stories
Go to Waste Basket—Editorial on Front Page.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., May 6.—Newspaper stories of sensational type sent to the waste basket yesterday by the Rev. W. H. Wray Boyle, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, during a oneday editorship of the Denver Post. He was invited to take actual charge of the paper for the day, following a sermon criticizing newspapers and the manner of displaying news.

Dr. Boyle took his place at a desk in the Post in the morning and supervised all news printed in the day's issue. Among news stories the minister "killed" were those on the Stillman and Stokes divorce cases in New York. All items relating to boxing were eliminated from the sport page and the sporting comment of Otto Floto also was "killed" while "Casey at the Bat" was reprinted.

Page one was given over to a two-column editorial on "The Ideals of

MOVIE CRAZE SWEEPS GERMANY

Only Sensational Films Appeal to Teutons, Screen Men Say.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

MUNICH, May 6.—Thirteen mil-

Germany has been smitten with has hit the Teutons hard, with 2-

HARDING'S SLIPPER SIZE IS 10 1/2
Fact Revealed in Letter to Girls Who Offer Gift.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—President Harding's size for bedroom slippers is 10 1/2.

Confirmation of this fact was made by the President himself yesterday in a letter addressed to Doris and Edith Brown, Camp Fire Girls. They planned to give him a bouquet of flowers while he was here for the unveiling of the Bolivar statue. Failing to reach the President, the girls decided to send him a pair of bedroom slippers and wrote to ask the size. His appreciative response revealed the secret.

OFFICER QUILTS RAILROAD IN RETRENCHMENT ROW

Vice President and Manager of Cotton Belt Resigns Rather Than Dismiss Aids.

The resignation of W. A. Webb as vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway Lines, made public at Dallas last night, was received today at the general offices of the road in the Railway Exchange Building. Resignations of other operating officials, said to have been tendered, have not been received. It was asserted in a formal statement. The statement, issued by Frederick W. Green, a vice president, in part follows:

"As to Mr. Webb's resignation, it is proper to state that in pursuance of the policy of retrenchments in expenses, made necessary by the present business depression, instructions were issued from the general offices in St. Louis to Mr. Webb to retain in service certain officers who were senior in points of service with this company, reducing or relieving, as the case might be, the junior officers. Mr. Webb is not in sympathy with this policy, and has tendered his resignation, which has been received.

"As to the resignations of the other operating officers mentioned, no advice has been received in the St. Louis office, and I feel that no comment should be made by me relating thereto until I am fully advised as to their intentions or actions. Green added that "the policy of the Cotton Belt in the reductions of expenses and retrenchments would be carried forward as heretofore planned."

Webb's resignation followed orders for the dismissal of two officers under his jurisdiction, it is said. The other resignations followed that of the general manager and are described as the result of "loyalty to the big chief."

Among those resigning are K. C. Marshall, superintendent, Pine Bluff, Ark.; N. M. Rosemond, foreman of engines, Pine Bluff, Ark.; and W. E. Raleigh, division engineer, Pine Bluff. Webb lives at Dallas. The other officials reside in various parts of Texas.

JAPANESE CULTURED PEARLS
MAKE LONDON MARKET PANICKY

Society Queens, Gem Merchants and Pawn Shop "Uncles" Fear They Have Unnatural Variety.

LONDON, May 6.—London's society queens, pearl merchants and pawn shop "uncles" were smitten with a common panic today as the result of the discovery that "cultured" Japanese pearls have found their way into the London market. Consequently fair possessors of priceless necklaces are extremely agitated over the possibility that their strings of pearls may no longer denote "tone" and wealth since they are becoming so common. The pearl merchants fear the introduction of the "cultured" gems will knock the bottom, temporarily at least, out of the pearl market. And the "uncles" are shuddering because they may have loaned large sums on pearls that may turn out to be cultured.

One jewelry expert said there had been no such panic in the gem trade since the appearance of synthetic rubies some years ago. Up to the present, he said, the only certain way to distinguish a cultured pearl from a real is to chop it in two.

PRODUCERS BLAMED FOR MARKET FLUCTUATIONS

Packers' Representative Tells Congress Stock Raisers' System of Marketing Is Faulty.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Fluctuations in the livestock market are largely due to the unscientific and inefficient system employed by producers in marketing their products and the real trouble at the base of the whole question is not so much a packer's problem as it is a producer's problem, Thomas E. Wilson of Chicago, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, told the House Committee on Agriculture today in appearing in opposition to the Norris-McLaughlin bill to control the packing industry.

Wilson, who said he spoke for the 200 packing companies which comprise the membership of the institute, told the committee that legislation of the sort proposed would simply serve to divert the largest single industry in America from energetic efforts to adjust itself to a changed and difficult situation.

The rebut, he said, would be quite as harmful to the livestock producers as to the packing industry itself. The Norris-McLaughlin bill, he declares, does not deal with or solve the economic problems of the producing or consuming public. Delegating radical and revolutionary powers to a commission, he said, would set up a form of governmental despotism over private business which would be destructive to private initiative and individual enterprise. He asserted that the industry already was supervised and regulated by more laws than any other industry in the country.

The whole scheme of the proposed legislation seemed to be predicated upon the idea of penalizing the packers for some unproven and imaginary offense, Wilson said.

Tables showing comparison of the earnings of packers with other industries were presented. He declared other industries were making much the greater profits. During 1920, he said, the five larger packers averaged a profit of about 19 cents each on animals slaughtered by them and about $7 per cent of every dollar received by the packers went to livestock producers. Factors in the general deflation were ascribed as reasons for the decline in prices of livestock and meats. Wilson said he doubted if Congressional enactment could change the economic conditions now existing.

LIQUOR IN PATTONVILLE BARN
Prohibition enforcement agents yesterday searched premises at the junction of the Fee and St. Charles roads in Pattonville, St. Louis County, purchased last December by Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of 4618A Delmar boulevard, and found in the barn 160 barrels containing a mixture of sugar, water and yeast, 50 empty five-gallon kegs and a five-gallon container of illicit whiskey.

The house had been painted and wired for electric lights, but was not occupied. The barn also had been wired. Mrs. Williams, when questioned, admitted ownership of the premises and said she expected to open the house next week for serving chicken dinners. She said she knew nothing about the barrels of liquid.

It was the punishment meted out to "Babe" Jarrett, a half-witted negro boy, by Judge Sam C. Brown in Circuit Court here. The sentence was carried out by Sheriff Smith on peremptory orders of the Court.

Youth Admits Deserting From Army.
Charles Schnepf, 18 years old, of 1846 South Twelfth street, was arrested by special policemen at Thirtieth and Calhoun streets, yesterday, when the policemen recognized him as a youth they believed to be in the army. He was in civilian clothes and at a police station admitted he had deserted Wednesday from E Battery, Third Field Artillery, at Camp Pike. He enlisted six months ago. He told the policemen he was homesick and ran away.

ALTON MAN KILLS HIS BROTHER AT WOODRIVER

Victim Had Aided Slayer's Wife in Trying to Break Up Affair With Another Woman.

John Rain, 45 years old, was shot and killed at his home at Woodriver, Ill., early today, by his brother, Chris Rain, 35, of Alton. Chris was arrested at his home four hours later, and the revolver with which he did the shooting was found in his possession.

The shooting was the sequel to John Rain's efforts to aid his brother's wife in an effort to break up a companionship between her husband and another woman. A telephone message was received last night by the wife that her husband was at a dance hall in Alton with the other woman, and she persuaded John Rain to go with her to get him. They went in John Rain's automobile. He remained in the machine while his sister-in-law entered the dance hall. Chris started to choke his wife and John interfered, at the same time calling the police. Chris then went away, and Mrs. Rain, fearing to go home with him, accompanied John Rain to his home in Woodriver. At 1 a. m. his doorbell rang and John Rain's wife answered the call. It was Chris, who said he wanted to see John. When the latter appeared his brother began shooting and John fell mortally wounded. After firing three shots Chris fled to his home.

John Rain was employed by the Roxana Oil Co. He is survived by his wife and one child. Chris has six children, all of whom were at home when he was arrested. He is in the meat business. Several months ago John Rain stood by while his sister-in-law applied a horsewhip to the other woman. He also has been trying to get his brother to remain away from dance halls.

UNION OFFICIALS ORDERED TO MAKE ACCOUNTING OF FUNDS

Chicago Labor Men Say $165,000 Was Illegally Used by L. Berry and Other Officials.

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 6.—George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, and other officials must give an accounting of funds spent out of the union treasury, United States District Judge A. M. J. Cochran of the Eastern District of Kentucky held yesterday. They are alleged, in a suit brought by Chicago Printing Pressmen's Union, No. 2, to have diverted approximately $165,000 of the union's funds to illegal uses. Whether a convention of the international union will be ordered to elect officers to succeed the present officials will be made known when the decree is formally entered, Judge Cochran said.

Judge Cochran held the officers of the union were guilty of a breach of trust. An immediate accounting to the union was ordered. The suit was filed in the United States District Court at Chicago by the local union in that city, which alleged that the officials had used money from the union treasury to purchase stock in a hydro-electric company without authorization. The case was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee.

HOUSE WRITES OF MEN AT PEACE CONFERENCE

Contributes Foreword to Book,
"What Really Happened," at Paris.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Still another account of the peace conference by one of those who were on the inside is to appear this month in a book entitled "What Really Happened at Paris," edited by Edward M. House and Charles Seymour, professor of history at Yale University. The book, which is published by Charles Scribner's Sons, is a series of articles by Americans who took leading parts in the work of each department of the conference. Among the contributors are: Herbert C. Hoover, Samuel Gompers, Admiral Henry T. Mayo, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, James Scott Brown, Charles H. Haskins and Robert Lord.

Mr. House, in his foreword to the book, makes some analysis and some criticisms of the noted figures who shaped the Versailles treaty.

Complex Characters There.
"There were great and complex characters at this gathering of the world's famous men," he says, "and there is a difference of opinion as to their purposes and their mental and temperamental equipments. Statesmen, soldiers, men of the sea, artists, financiers and writers of all kinds and sorts touched elbows with one another. The settlements to be made were interwoven with every human interest and brought the best from every land to participate in or advise as to the final adjustment."

"There were some who towered above their fellows, and these became centers of groups from which policies and opinions radiated. Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, Orlando, Paderewski, Venizelos, Smuts, Makino and Wellington Koo were among the statesmen having distinct and enthusiastic followers. Clemenceau stands out the clearest-cut figure of them all. No doubt or mystery surrounds him. He fought in peace as he fought in war, openly, intelligently and courageously, for his beloved France. No one in that notable gathering had so well within his grasp the gift of accomplishment. He inspired the affection of many—the admiration of all."

Paderewski and Wilson.
"Paderewski and Wilson had about them something of romance and spirituality lacking in others. The one had gathered together the fragments of a broken kingdom and had molded them into a virile and liberty-loving republic. He came as the spokesman of an ancient people whose wrongs and sorrows had stirred the sympathies of an entire world. This artist-statesman awakened the Congress to do justice to his native land, and sought its help to make a great dream true. His fervent eloquence brought about the renaissance of Poland and added new luster to a famous name."

"Wilson, on the other hand, had aroused the conscience and aspirations of mankind, and when he stood at the peak of his influence and power there was never a more commanding figure, for he was then the spokesman of the moral and spiritual forces of the world. His work at Paris was tireless and unselfish and it was not until he returned to America to render an account of his stewardship that disaster overtook him and wrecked the structure built in co-operation with our allies with such painstaking care."

1000 CANDIDATES INITIATED INTO ORDER OF KU KLUX KLAN

Mystic Ceremonials Performed at Meeting at Atlanta, Ga.—Program to Continue Today.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., May 6.—Initiation of more than 1000 candidates into the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was carried out with all the mystic ceremonials of the order at a meeting here last night at Lakewood Park. Knights from all sections of the country attended, according to announcement from headquarters here.

It was stated that more than 5000 members of the order were in attendance, the gathering being in celebration of the founding of the order of the same name in reconstruction days.

Today the clansmen paraded and in the evening they will go to Stone Mountain, 16 miles east of Atlanta, where the present order, headed by W. J. Simmons, Imperial wizard, was organized Thanksgiving day six years ago.

Farmer Blows Off Back of His Head.

By the Associated Press.
IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., May 6.—Tom McGuire, 70 years old, a farmer, was found dead on his farm near here yesterday morning with the back of his head blown off. It is believed that he used a stick of dynamite to end his life. Two sticks were found near his body.

THEFT OF CANDY AND LEATHER CHARGED AGAINST FIVE BOYS

Police Hold Youthful Prisoners While Investigating Reports of Recent Burglaries.

Five boys, ranging in age from 10 to 15 years, are under arrest while the police are investigating several recent burglaries. Two shoemakers are under arrest also.

Three of the boys were arrested at 11 o'clock today as they sat munching candy from three one-pound boxes, in a bread box on Franklin avenue near Ninth street. They confessed, the police declare, that they obtained the candy from the Majestic Candy Co., 1026 Franklin avenue, and investigation disclosed that bars had been pried from rear windows of the candy company and goods valued at $11 stolen.

Some of the boys admitted, the police said, that they recently had stolen 10 bundles of leather valued at $400 from the Standard Heel and Counter Co., Eleventh street and Cass avenue, and disposed of it to Moses Greenberg, a cobbler at 1012 North Thirteenth street, and Tony Verme, 828 North Ninth street, a cobbler also. Greenberg denied any purchase. Verme said one of the boys told him that the leather had been given to him by his mother to sell.

INDICTMENT OF FIVE FOLLOWS AUTO THEFT INVESTIGATION

Harry Pepper, 19 years old, of 1223 North Fourteenth street, who has confessed to the theft of automobiles, and Charles Dorste, 30, of Ballwin, St. Louis County, were indicted yesterday on five charges each of grand larceny and receiving stolen property. Three others, indicted on two charges each of receiving stolen property, were John Guibor of 1811 Kennett place, a former policeman; George B. Tucker, proprietor of a garage at Eureka, St. Louis County; and Ambrose Keeton, proprietor of a repair shop at 2723 Chouteau avenue. Sixteen indictments in all were returned.

The indictments follow investigation of the theft of five automobiles. In this investigation, the police say they have found evidence that stolen cars were systematically altered so as to prevent identification by the owners.

The arrest of Pepper last week resulted from a fire in a garage at 2818 Thomas street, where he was keeping a stolen car. Pepper served part of a term in the State Reform School at Boonville for stealing an automobile, and was paroled in February, 1919. Dorste has denied that he knew the cars handled by him were stolen.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Which Would You Scratch?
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A sign over an automobile agency on Grand avenue reads as follows:
 "If you had to abandon your electric light, telephone or automobile, which would it be?"

Here is a question worthy of considerable theoretical discussion, involving, as it does, a hypothetical reversal of the well known wheels of progress. The discussion would have to be purely theoretical, of course, because nobody really knows what he would do under these imaginary circumstances. But granting that such an arbitrary choice were put to the people, which of these three modern conveniences would the majority of people be likely to "abandon?"

Being an owner of an automobile, as well as a user of the electric light and the telephone, I think I am qualified to cast my vote in advance. Of the three I would scratch my automobile.

In doing so I do not want to be understood as undervaluing the value of the motor car. To paraphrase Mark Antony, this is a case of "not that I love the automobile less, but that I love the electric light and telephone more."

The only test is, of course, which loss would affect our everyday life the least. Well, I have had my car laid up for repairs, and while the temporary loss of this means of transportation was an inconvenience, it was nothing compared with the "blowing" of an electric light fuse, or the temporary delay in getting Central when a telephone wire is down.

We do not, perhaps, realize that we are actually living in an age of miracles. It is a miracle to be able to propel oneself over the ground at railroad speed, but it is even a greater miracle to be able to flood a room with light merely by pressing a button, or to be able to talk to any one of a hundred thousand people within a few seconds merely by lifting the receiver from the hook!

The telephone and electric light cost us only a few cents a day; an automobile may cost the owner a good many dollars a day. The question of cost suggests the question of substitutes. If we can't drive a car we can always board a street car or a train. It is true, of course, that there are also fairly good substitutes for the electric light. But there is no real substitute for the telephone. The telegraph transmits our message, certainly; but the telephone transmits our voice; and it is at our instant command at any hour of day or night.

AUTOMOBILE OWNER.

Art and Profit.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read with considerable interest your editorial in last Tuesday evening's Post on "Art and Business," and I agree with your idea that the way to cultivate the general public's taste for art and beauty is through the development of high standards of design and craftsmanship in all branches of industry, including building, thus getting art to function through the things of everyday use.

As you have already expressed it, it is absolutely true that the art element is a profitable element, and not always an element of cost. The manufacturer should combine beauty and utility, thus placing before the people only artistic and useful things from which to choose.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

On behalf of the China Famine Fund and the American committee which has the work of feeding the thousands of starving people of China in hand and on behalf of the local committee and its workers I desire to thank your paper for the valuable space that you have devoted to making the visit of Dr. Sao-Kee here and "Life Savings day," April 27, successful.

Please accept my heartfelt thanks.

The Forestry Department.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to the writer signing himself W. S. M. who several weeks ago wrote something about it requiring five of the city's men to replace a tree:

His statement was unfair and misleading. These men plant from 80 to 90 trees a day, I am told, and any child knows it would take some kind of a vehicle or truck to take the trees and tools to the various locations.

Mr. W. S. M. ought to inquire of the different nurseries about prices, then compare them with the city's. It would also be interesting to know how W. S. M. would go about planting hundreds of trees in a short season. Would he have each man a few trees, tools and car fare and send them to the different locations? The Forestry Department is doing excellent work.

A BOOSTER.

Geography Asked.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

An article recently was published telling of a woman Governor and religious leader of the Island of Badi in the Torres Straits, which separates Northern Australia from New Zealand. New Zealand is about 1200 miles east of Australia and north of Australia is what used to be German New Guinea.

How come?

THE BOWLING GREEN VERDICT.

Roy Hammonds, the negro lynched in Bowling Green after being convicted and sentenced for attempted criminal assault on a young white girl, "came to his death by strangulation from hanging, at the hands of parties unknown to the jury."

This obvious conclusion is the result of the attempt of the law officers of Pike County, with the assistance of the State's Attorney-General, to prosecute those responsible for the lynching of the negro. It is the verdict of the Coroner's jury. It is the conclusion of the grand jury, after a fruitless investigation. So far as the law goes, the case is closed.

The Bowling Green case illustrates the difficulty of enforcing the law against lawless mobs, prompted to violence by brutal crimes, particularly one vile crime. The real reason for the utter failure of the prosecution of the mob is public opinion in Bowling Green and Pike County, supported by general public opinion. Public opinion, if it does not approve, at least condones the mob's crime and protects the mob from punishment. Of course, perjury is involved in the protection of the members of the mob from exposure and prosecution—perjury or evasion of duty on the part of public officials. It is incredible that no one in Bowling Green knows the identity of some of the lynching party. Public opinion supports perjury and official evasion of duty in cases of this kind.

The case is an illustration of the legal maxim that laws cannot be enforced without the approval and support of public opinion. If a law runs contrary to public opinion it becomes a dead letter. It merely tends to bring all law into contempt.

Punishment for mobs in cases in which detestable crimes have been committed, or the prejudices of the people are aroused, or in communities where law and law enforcement are lightly regarded and lawlessness is condoned, is impossible. Obedience to law and enforcement of law rests upon public opinion.

The campaign against mob law, therefore, must go deeper than merely the attempt to punish mobs or their ringleaders. Prompt and adequate punishment of criminals, particularly those guilty of brutal and detestable crimes which arouse the furious indignation of the public, will go far to allay public indignation and prevent lynchings. But the only sound foundation of law and order is enlightened public opinion. The enlightening and strengthening of public opinion in support of law and law enforcement are the primary tasks in the fight for law and order. There must be a campaign of education.

The law and the courts and legal processes for enforcing law are weakened through the lynching of Roy Hammonds and the failure to prosecute the mob. Respect for law and the authority of the courts is lessened. Justice is struck down. The life of every man in the community is threatened and his legal rights are impaired by the lynching and the immunity of the mob. Lawlessness is encouraged.

If the people of Pike County and of the State are not brought to realize the far-reaching consequences of the triumph of the mob over law and order, lawlessness will reign and no man will be safe from the mob. The alternatives are law or lawlessness—there is no middle ground.

THE MACHINE ON INSPECTION.

The city campaign is long since past, but facts are only now coming officially to light which would have made a pointed exhibit had they been printed at the time.

It is not contended for a moment that they would have reduced the Mayor's vote. That touches the very point. Reasons of public concern do not disaffect such constituencies as that of Mayor Kiel. For, as shown in the itemized list of campaign contributions totaling $65,834, the Mayor's employees and contract beneficiaries are a mighty host which supply him not only with votes directly, but with the wherewithal to hook more votes indirectly.

The system of the employee paying for his job and the Mayor paying for his votes by the bestowal of patronage is a farce made not the more palatable by the provision in the City Charter, Article XVIII, Section 13, which says that "any person . . . who shall solicit, directly or indirectly, any assessment or contribution for any political party, from any person in the classified service shall for such offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor," etc. The article goes on to name the penalties.

Of course, the literal solicitation remains to be proven in law, but the very fact of any contributions at all from stenographers and scrub women is moral proof that the spirit of the Charter was violated.

Whatever may be said of the large fund expended for the Mayor's late opponent, it could not have come from city patronage. It came from men who believed that there ought to have been a change in the city administration, most of whom had nothing to gain from a change.

A WORD FROM WASHINGTON.

No American jingo of pre-war days, in the wildest flights of his megalomania, ever imagined that, at a word from Washington, a European ministry would fall. Yet that is precisely what has happened. The American Secretary of State writes a note and the German Cabinet quakes.

Chancellor Fehrenbach, it is explained, regards the Hughes note as a reprimand and retires rather than expose himself to another rebuff. His colleagues share his sentiment. Other constructions, of course, can be put on this amazing sequence. It will doubtless be argued that the latest move of Germany is another attempt of the wily, tenacious Teuton to fend off the carrying out of the allies' ultimatum and by this policy of Fabianism to win some advantage in the bargaining.

Sincere or strategic, the titular successor to Bismarck, Caprivi von Buelow, has surrendered his post following the rejection of a proposal by the American Government. Episode of practical politics or pregnant historical event, it assuredly reaffirms the fact that new relationships were forged in the fiery furnace of war that cannot be unmade. Our irreconcilables may rant and rave, but the tide of things rolls on sweepingly, unmindful of gesticulating Canutes.

The normalcy of Mr. Harding's amiable campaign modifications is the fittest of daydreams. Uncle Sam cannot be a spectator at this colossal drama of real life. He can't take a minor part. Destiny has cast him for the stellar role in the redemption of civilization, for the playing of which he must fling off his coat, roll up his sleeves, spit on his hands and pitch in.

WANTED—ANOTHER CERVANTES.

In an interview in the Post-Dispatch yesterday commanding Secretary Mellon's taxation proposals, which are largely the same as his own recommendations of a year ago, former Secretary Houston cited some illuminating figures. He said that the United States, since the adoption of the Constitution, had expended $58,000,000,000 for war and only $9,000,000,000 for all other objects. And in this year's budget, totaling about $4,800,000,000, accounts of war absorb $4,200,000,000, while the comparatively fragmentary remainder of $600,000,000 is to apply to our civil activities.

It is difficult to reconcile the content of such figures with our honest abhorrence of militarism, our genuinely unselfish intent, our burning hatred of conquest by force of arms, our resolute national dream of a world of peace and good will among men.

The record of other national budgets is of the same depressing tenor. The figures recently recited by Sir Philip Gibbs as to current British war expenditures would be preposterous if they were not true. A mere military detail, such as the Mesopotamian campaign, runs into fantastic figures, while the total expenditures for army and navy multiply pre-war budgets. An accounting from other capitals, such as Tokio, Paris and Rome, is simply a continuation of the colossal toll of war.

Manifestly, the only justification that any Government can make to its people at this time is that everybody else is doing it. It is manifest, too, that this pandemic folly can only be ameliorated or cured by universal curtailment, brought about by an agreement among the squandering nations.

That such an agreement eventually will be entered into is not to be doubted. It has got to come. The productive capacity of the nations, if functioning at its maximum, is not capable of maintaining the present burdens of past wars and preparedness for future wars. But though all this is obvious, the men entrusted with national leadership while stoutly professing their love for peace, persist in asking for unprecedented appropriations for war. Logic, common sense, the unanswerable arguments of mathematicians, all point to the alternative of retrenchment or bankruptcy, and there is no retrenchment yet. To the eloquence of plain, every-day need statesmanship also is deaf.

How, pray, can responsible officialdom be made to hear and act? Must another Cervantes come along to do this egregious folly of armament what the great Spaniard did to knight-errantry—laugh it out of court?

THE COST OF CARELESSNESS.

Carelessness little less than wanton in the transportation of large sums of money is disclosed by the testimony in the trial of Loren E. Williamson in the Federal court at East St. Louis on the charge of stealing a mail pouch containing $159,000 at Mount Vernon, Ill.

One of the vicissitudes of the journey of bundles of money from St. Louis banks to their country correspondents was to be entrusted to "Old Sam," the Mount Vernon mail carrier, to be transported from the postoffice to the railroad station in an open wagon. One day, when the pouch contained a trifle of $159,000, "Old Sam" pitched it on his wagon, at the back door of the postoffice, and went inside to call up the station and inquire whether the train was on time. While he was inside the pouch was stolen. It might have been stolen as easily any other day.

The handling of money shipments at Mount Vernon was not unique. Money is being handled that way all the time all over the country, not only in the mails, but by other means of transportation. Losses attributable to lack of adequate safeguards have reached an enormous aggregate in the past few months.

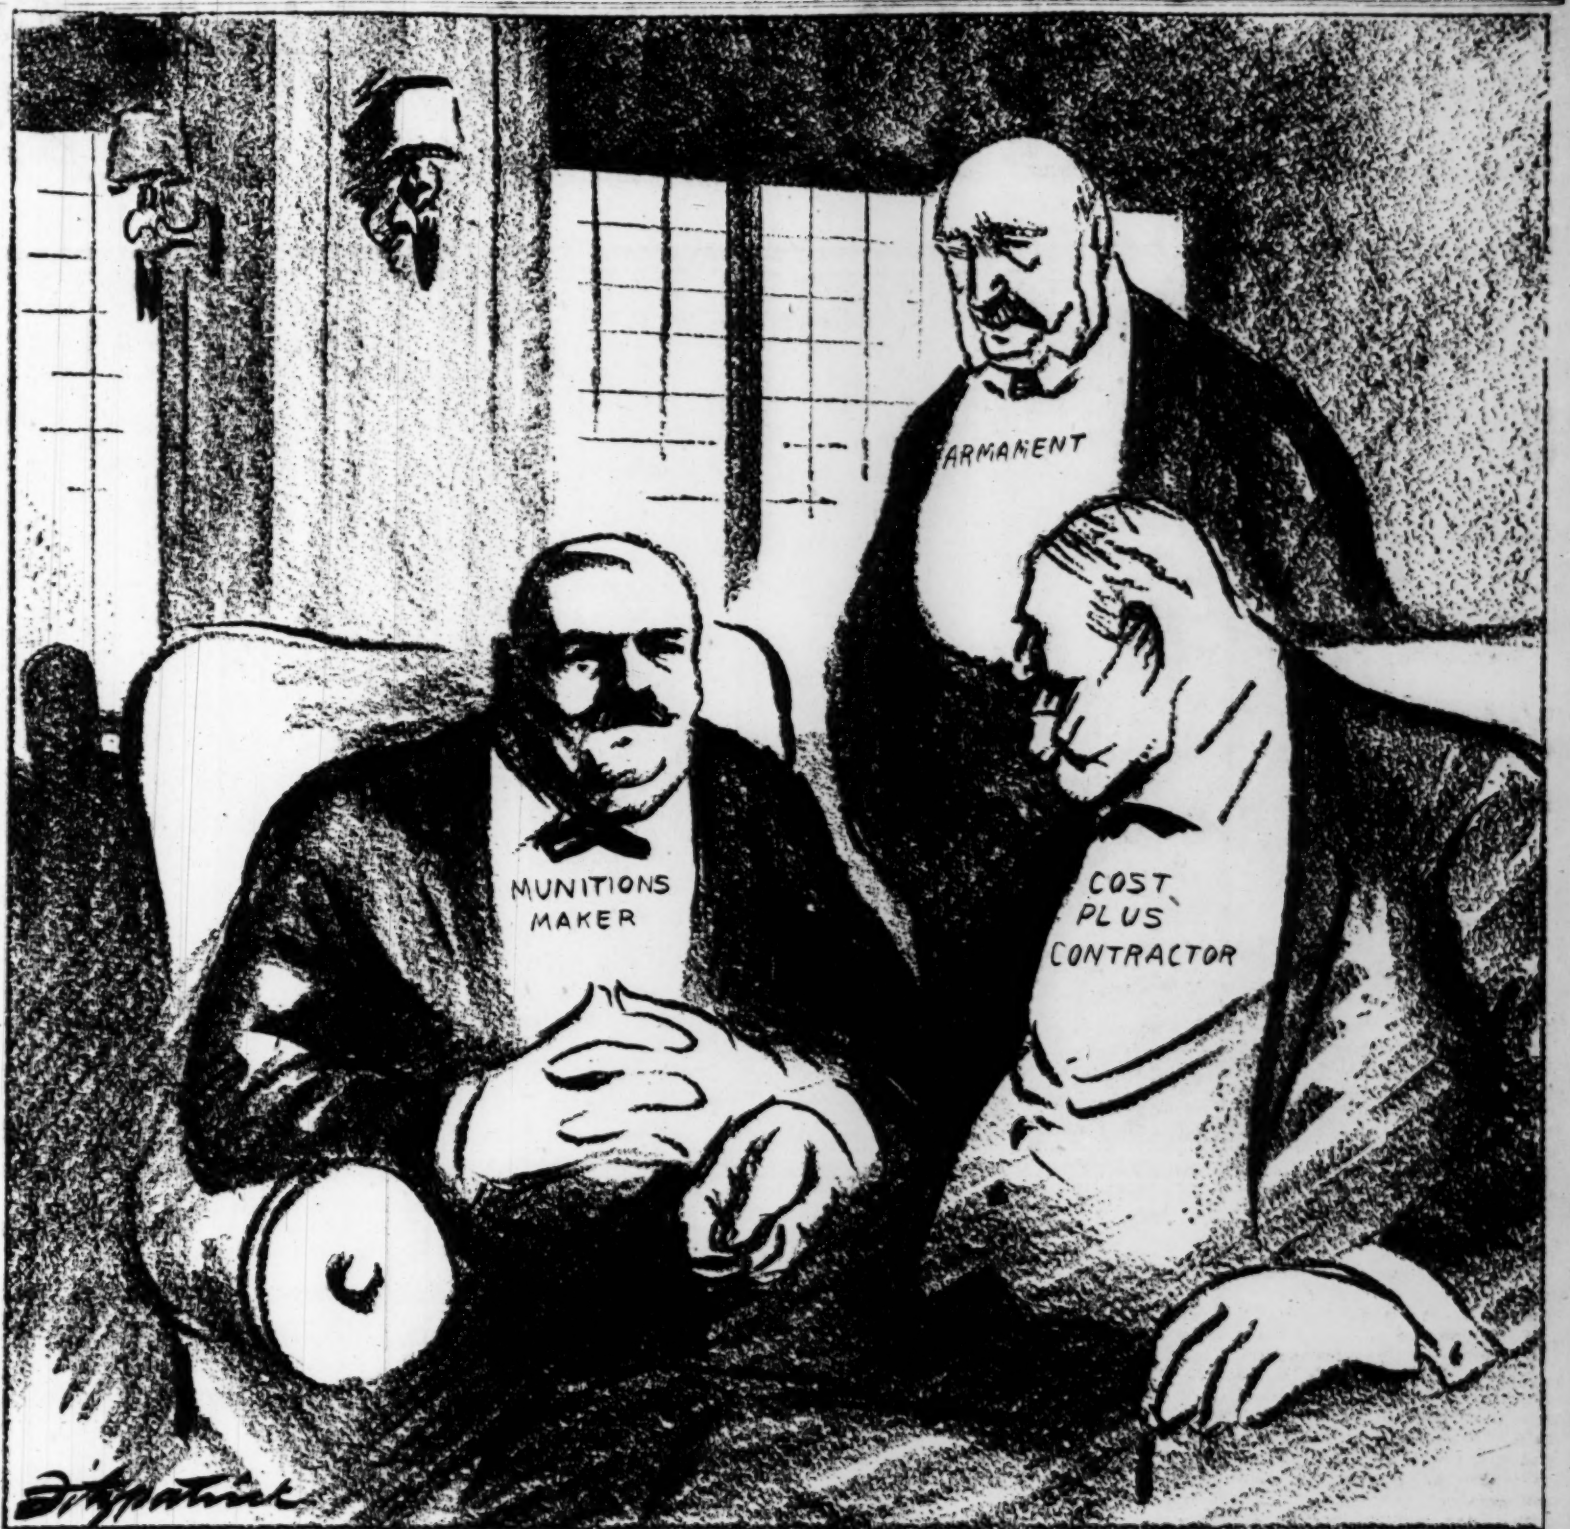

Usually, when a few hundred thousand dollars have been stolen, the information, intended to be reassuring, is given that it was insured. There is nothing reassuring in that except for the actual owners. It merely means that the loss is borne by everybody instead of by those to whose carelessness or lack of insistence upon safeguards it is due. Insurance is not paid by insurance companies. It is paid by society through insurance companies. Insurance is a tax. Rates are based on percentage of losses. If losses are great, rates are high. Insurance companies collect them, allocate sufficient to pay the losses out of them and keep what is left for their trouble.

A fraction of what has been lost in the past few months, if appropriated for adequate protection, would bring a substantial reduction of the toll which is collected for the restitution which insurance affords.

PANETELA.

Y ES, Luella,
 Income taxes
 Keep our purses

Pretty lean;
 But imagine
 In addition
 Keeping up
 The Kiel machine!
 Where we have
 To pay a dollar,
 What though
 Desolate and blue,
 People working
 For the city
 Have to somehow
 Rustle two!

Nor is this,
 My little girlie,
 Half the sorry
 Tale, at that:
 Taxes don't compare
 With putting Something in
 The party hat.
 Though we are
 Quite free to grumble
 When the government
 Is greased,
 Making party
 Contributions
 One must somehow
 Still be pleased.

So we have it,
 Sweet Luella,
 Blithe and cheerful
 As the May,
 Lest resentment
 Be suspected.
 One in politics
 Must pay.
 After both
 The State and nation
 Leave him gasping
 And bereft.
 Lo, the servant
 Of the city
 Hands the party
 What is left!

Is it truly
 Any wonder,
 What with these
 Financial feasts,
 That employees
 Of the city
 Haven't heart
 To fix the streets?
 Can we marvel,
 Understanding
 What high hurdles
 Guard the way,
 That employees
 Of the city
 Have to have
 A raise in pay?

All of us
 Must work at keeping
 Body still
 Conjoined with soul.
 Let us therefore
 Not be boastful
 Of our own
 Financial stunts,
 Since the servant
 Of the city
 Puts up two times
 To our once.

If people don't quit telling how much of the public revenue goes to war in this country we will have a movement to join the League of Nations on our hands the first thing we know.

England needs such a group of bird politicians as we have in the United States. Would you believe that the skins of 35,000,000 birds of plumage were sold on the London market last year? It is a fact, and when a bill to stop it went before the House of Commons the great feather trade in its many ramifications mustered enough power to beat it. Thank Heaven, we knocked the feather trade into a cocked hat in this country some years ago. We did more than that; we secured a treaty with Canada by which the traffic in wild birds and their plumage is dead in both countries. Think of England continuing in that terrible business, which little by little denudes the farthest wilderness of its birds of plumage! It is unbelievable what we will do for money. We will traffic in anything people will buy. We would not spare, if we could sell it, a single beautiful thing on earth. If we could shoot and sell them, we would put out the very stars of night, which have lifted up the eyes of men out of savagery. When the big fight for birds was on at Washington Mr. E. A. McIlhenny made a moving picture film down in Louisiana showing how the egret is shot in the nesting season, when the plumage of the mother bird is at the height of its glory. In that traffic the egret hunters poled about the swamp in boats and shot the egrets off the nest, leaving the little birds to perish of starvation. Mr. McIlhenny took his film to Washington and made it his business to see that the members of Congress saw it. That stopped the traffic in wild plumage in the United States. England needs a man like that. She needs to be shown what happens in the faraway forest before the feathers are shipped to London. If the House of Commons could be transported to one of those terrible scenes there would not be any feather market in London.

The thing that we feared has come to pass. Br'er Bryan, flushed by the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, now confidentially exposes for us the future, in which are revealed other amendments and goodness knows what in the way of perfection by law. At that, one's chief objection to our time is that we won't live to read history's judgment upon it. We can only foresee that this will be one of the most interesting chapters in history, and one can howl much more lustily to think that one cannot read it than one possibly could howl for the loss of anything we have lost.

We are afraid that Mr. Harding and his hardy crew are finding the sailing difficult. You can never stand on shore and correctly judge a storm at sea, which is what these gentlemen tried to do. The spectacle of Senator Lodge coming back in the breeches buoy is going to raise a laugh in a little while. Get ready for it.

WORDS FOR YOU.

I WILL catch words like birds through heaven flying.
 Weave a soft, wind-harp song for you a-singing.
 Phrases melodious your mood shall measure,
 Tripping euphonious to give you pleasure,
 I would not have you pass death's gloomy portal.

For in a song would I make you immortal,
 Make you a memory, lovely, beguiling,
 Free from all pain and care, tenderly smiling.
 Thus, in a chain unfelt nothing could sever,
 My love would hold you fast, darling, forever.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

INDEPENDENCE OF EGYPT.

From the Report of the Milner Commission.
THERE is nothing new in the recognition of Egyptian independence by Great Britain. Throughout our occupation we have most carefully respected the theory that Egypt was a national unit under the suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey, and when we abolished the Turkish suzerainty we deliberately chose to proclaim a protectorate in preference to annexing Egypt or making her part of the British Empire. We have constantly renewed our promise of self-government for Egypt. We are of opinion that the fulfillment of this promise cannot be postponed. The moment is favorable for placing the relations of Great Britain and Egypt on the satisfactory and enduring basis of a treaty which will at one and the same time establish the independence of Egypt and secure the essential interests of Great Britain. It will be an undoubted advantage to Great Britain to have those interests carefully defined and placed beyond challenge in a treaty accepted by the Egyptians, as it will obviously be an advantage to Egypt to have her integrity and independence guaranteed by Great Britain. We therefore strongly advise His Majesty's Government to enter without undue delay into negotiations with the Egyptian Government for the conclusion of a treaty on the lines which we have ventured to recommend. It would, in our opinion, be a great misfortune if the present opportunity were lost.

MR. STONE'S RETIREMENT.

From the New York World.
THE retirement of Melville E. Stone as general manager of the Associated Press is the retirement of a great journalist whose achievements in the collection and distribution of news have been world-wide. Under the management of Mr. Stone the Associated Press became more than a national institution. It reached out everywhere for news. It emancipated American journalism from the foreign press associations that are likely to be under the control of government and made it a disinterested agency of international publicity. No higher tribute can be paid to the character of his service than the general reputation that the Associated Press has rightly earned for accuracy and responsibility. The Associated Press has its faults, but it was Mr. Stone's highest distinction that he endeavored to administer it as a public trust and that this endeavor was increasingly successful during the long years in which he directed its affairs. He has well earned the opportunity to retire, and he carries with him the generous good-will of a profession to which he brought zeal, ability, character and unflinching devotion.

FRANCE AS A PEACE MAKER.

From the Republic Française.
PRESIDENT HARDING must have been aware that the sending of his offering to the American Committee of Help in Ireland and accompanying it with a message of sympathy for this "unhappy portion of humanity" must have caused a certain melancholy in London. Just at the time when Mr. Lloyd George finds it suitable to recognize the Soviets, America is proclaiming to the world that no basis exists which permits of discussing with them the resumption of commercial relations, much less political relations. So many conflicts between our associate of the New World and our principal European ally make our diplomatic task difficult. It must act the part of interpreter. But it must not be like the "Honest Broker," as was the case formerly with Bismarck, who tried to deceive everybody. No, France owes it to herself to bring together those who are becoming estranged. She must bring about a work of peace.

FIXES LABOR AT 60 PER CENT OF ROADS' OPERATING EXPENSE

John G. Walber, Information Bureau Secretary, Replies to Union Economist Before Labor Board.

CALLS UNION CLAIMS FALLACIOUS, VISIONARY

Declares Railroad That Attempted to Carry Out Labor's Ideas Would Not Survive the Test.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 6.—Speaking before the Railroad Labor Board today in behalf of the Eastern roads, John G. Walber, secretary of the Roads' Bureau of Information, declared that the voluminous exhibits offered by the employees were "entirely irrelevant to the wage issue," and that the economies suggested by W. Jett Lauck, economist for the unions, were "fallacious, theoretical and visionary."

Alleged possible economies amounting to $2,026,355,000, through the use of mechanical appliances and revamping of equipment were declared not to be original suggestions.

"From reading these exhibits one might get the impression that the American railroads are antiquated and inefficiently managed," Walber said. "We deny these presumptions and point with pride to the records of performance, cost of operation and service rendered the public, which are acknowledged as being superior to any railroad service in the world."

"Notwithstanding the railroads have been using improved devices treated, etc., upon which so much stress is laid, the operating results and the ratio of operating expenses to gross earnings do not reflect economies capable of being measured to any such extent as claimed, nor does the record of the railroads justify estimates of economies of the magnitude represented."

"Since these economies ($2,026,355,000, as stated by Lauck) amount to more than one-third of the total operating expenses, it is reasonable to assume that economies would be effected in expenses for labor and material in the same proportion that these items of operating expenses now bear to the total operating expenses."

Cost of Labor to Roads.

"At the present time expenses for labor approximate 60 per cent of the total operating expenses. It is, therefore, reasonable to assume that 60 per cent of the savings claimed would have to be savings in labor, which would mean the reduction of 668,000 employees, based on the number in service in 1920."

With respect to the statement that various savings could be made without additional capital expenditures, Walber pointed out that Lauck's own exhibits state elsewhere that these same savings will be made with a capital expenditure of $558,000,000. Referring to one of Lauck's statements headed "Immediate savings," amounting to $375,000,000, covering economy devices for locomotives, he declared:

"Granting that expenditures for such devices were justified, it must be manifest that it would be wholly impracticable within any brief period of time which would justify the statement that they would be 'immediately available' and the management of a railroad that followed this suggested practice would not survive the test of the transportation act as to honest, efficient and economical operation."

With respect to Lauck's exhibit intended to show efficiency of railroad employees measured in traffic units, Walber said:

"The statement presupposes that any increase in traffic units beyond a proportionate increase in man hours is due entirely to the increased efficiency of employees. This is absolutely at variance with all railroad operating experience."

Analyses Suggested Economies.

An analysis was made of other alleged economies and inconclusion Walber said:

"We have not attempted to analyze in great detail each of the elements of saving presented, but we believe that the foregoing will demonstrate to the board the extent to which economies suggested by Lauck have been made by the compilers, from more or less public statements which are accepted without proper consideration and indicate the utter fallacy of many of the claims which, from their merit alone, there is no justification for the board giving serious consideration. We have studied these exhibits from the standpoint of their relevancy to the present case and it is our belief that none of them come within the purview of the elements set forth in section 307 of the transportation act."

Four-Tenths of 1 Per Cent Increase in Unemployment in April

U. S. Employment Service Reports Show 1.7 Per Cent Gain in Number of Idle Workers in St. Louis Last Month.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Unemployment in St. Louis and in the country as a whole increased during April, according to statistics made public today by the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor. The increase in St. Louis was 1.7 per cent as compared with a national average of four-tenths of 1 per cent.

The figures are put out by the Employment Service with the comment that they refute the popular belief that unemployment throughout the country gradually lessened during April. Reports received from agents of the service indicated that the total number of workers employed by 1424 large concerns in the 66 principal industrial centers of the United States declined from 1,537,736 on March 31 to 1,530,749 on April 30—a net decrease of 7037, or four-tenths of 1 per cent. Since Jan. 31, the report states, the net decrease in the same establishments has been 47,385, or 2.3 per cent.

Of 53 industrial centers east of the Mississippi, 28 show decreases in employment as against 25 showing improved conditions. The Pacific Coast is almost universally shown as having lost ground during April, inactivity in shipbuilding and lumbering accounting for much of the reduction.

Iron and steel plants show a decrease in employment of 30,055 or 7.3 per cent for the month. In contrast, a boom in automobile and automobile parts manufacturing has resulted in a four per cent increase in employment reported, 22.3 for the month, or additions of 31,956 workers.

Textiles and leather products show some recovery, accounting for more than 10,000 of the total gains of 42,333 in industry for the month.

Greatest numerical gains of cities are reported by Detroit, Chicago, Toledo and Passaic, but in percentage of gain, the four leaders are Denver, Detroit, Toledo and Passaic, in the order named, with Chicago far down the list.

Building Still Quiet.

In many cities continued stagnation in building trades, due to combined high costs of materials and employment difficulties, has checked large numbers and in general retarded increased activity in other lines. This same dullness in building has been reflected in either suspended or part-time operations in western coast lumber producing centers.

City improvement projects, especially paving and park development, have already provided much relief in many cities and should continue as anticipated projects are launched, reports indicate.

Ten cities reporting employment decreases in March, with percentage of decrease, are: Johnston, 20.9; Youngstown, 18.4; Pittsburgh, 16.9; Portland, Ore., 16.7; Seattle, 16.6; St. Paul, 13.7; New Orleans, 13.2; Omaha, 11.8; San Francisco, 10.3; and Chattanooga, 8.9.

Ten cities reporting employment increases are: Denver, 44.9; Detroit, 25.9; Toledo, 23.1; Passaic, 17; Peoria, 13.4; Grand Rapids, 12.9; Dayton, O., 10.3; Atlanta, 8.8; Yonkers, 6.6; and Manchester, N. H., 4.4.

Conditions in Middle West.

General conditions in the district embracing Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Kansas are described as follows:

"Even enormous road-building programs are overshadowed by the early agricultural activity, throughout this district. Twenty-five counties in Iowa are experiencing a real back-to-the-farm movement, with the result that employment offices report farm labor in good demand. The farmers' insistence that labor be experienced is noted in response from an exceptionally good class of workers. Approximately 85 per cent of the applicants are from 35 to 50 years of age. The supply of this grade of workers at present exceeds demands.

"Bad weather and continued high costs have delayed road-building projects. Of North Dakota's proposed 300 miles of roads, scheduled to be built this season, 150 miles are already under contract. Better manufacturing business is noted in smaller Nebraska cities, and jobbing interests are improving in South Dakota. Contraction in the packing industry is purely a seasonal condition.

"Throughout the district, building trades are very quiet, despite the real demand for houses in all of the 31 cities."

Reports From Missouri.

Reports from Missouri cities are as follows:

"St. Louis—Slight demand for male and female factory workers indicates some improvement, but unemployment continues considerable. Improvement in metal trades, though not general, is in isolated cases good. Construction, forced by housing shortage, is the extent of building.

"Kansas City—Decreases in packing have offset gains of other lines, giving unemployment little change. Improvement on experience accompanies increased demand for farm labor. The 50 per cent force of one mail order house is stated sufficient to handle the year's anticipated business.

"St. Joseph—General improvement has followed greatly increased textile production. Packing and building are the only exceptions.

"Hannibal—Unemployment is centered in the building trades, railroad and unskilled labor. Manufacturing enjoys further improvement, record production being reported in one shoe factory.

"Springfield—Seasonal activity accounts for some improvement, but much uneasiness continues because of closed railroad repair shops."

THIRD OF NEW YORK CITY'S POPULATION IS FOREIGN BORN

Total of Such Inhabitants of City 1,989,216; Decrease From 40.4 Per Cent in 1910.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The foreign-born white population of New York City was announced today by the Census Bureau as 1,989,216, or 35.4 per cent of the total population, as compared with 40.4 per cent in 1910.

Natives of Russia led in numbers, with 479,481. Italians numbered 388,427; Irish, 202,832; Germans, 193,558; Poles, 145,267; and Austrians, 126,447.

Thirty nations were represented in New York's polyglot peoples, the announcement shows, exclusive of those from Canada and South America. The foreign-born population increased in the aggregate 3.2 per cent from 1910 to 1920.

Pittsburg C. of C. to Erect 1000 Homes.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, May 6.—The Board of Directors of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution under which the organization would form a $200,000 corporation for the construction of residences. The resolution, made public today, calls for the construction of 1000 houses to be sold at moderate cost and on reasonable terms.

BRYAN TO DESERT NEBRASKA AND LIVE IN TWO STATES

Commoner to Practice Law in Washington and Run for Senator in Florida.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—William J. Bryan will become a resident of Washington and a citizen of Florida. He is shaking the dust of Nebraska from his feet. His future political and business careers will be staged elsewhere.

Formal announcement is made that he will become a consulting member of the legal firm here of Douglas, O'Leary & Douglas. He will limit his participation to matters arising under international law. The firm for years has represented various factions in Mexico and there will be abundant opportunity for the Commoner to display his talents in this new field.

Aside from the formal announcement the positive statement is made here that Bryan has taken all necessary steps to become a citizen of Florida.

ITALY APPROVES U. S. YAP CLAIM, COUNT SFORZA SAYS

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 6.—Count Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, talking during the journey from the Supreme Council meeting in London yesterday of the American Government's note concerning the Yap mandate, formally in the Supreme Council meetings, but that he had occasion to talk of it with Earl Curzon, the British Foreign Minister.

"I said to him," continued Count Sforza, "that without the United States the war would not have been won. She has asked for nothing and is entitled to have her way about Yap. She ought to have it, and the Italian Government desires her to have it."

VERITABLE FLOOD OF GOLD SWEEPING INTO AMERICA

Amount in This Country Exceeds $3,001,487,915, and the Tide Is Continuing From Many Countries.

MOST OF IT FROM BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Bars Being Received Through Sweden From Russia—South America Contributing.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—A veritable flood of gold is sweeping upon the shores of the United States. Already the precious metal in the country has attained the unprecedented amount of $3,001,487,915, and yet the tide is rising.

Financiers attribute this to the fact that the United States is the world's one "creditor nation" and for the equally important reason that the other nations of the world find it well nigh impossible to transact business with this country by reason of their own depreciated currency.

The precious metal is coming from all quarters of the globe, but the European countries, more particularly Great Britain and France, as well as the Scandinavian nations, are paying heaviest toll.

Much of the gold received from England represents shipments from South Africa to London, while the French and other consignments hark back to the days of the war and in some instances to much longer periods.

For example, Sweden is sending gold received from Germany for war supplies, also bar gold or bullion which many believe to be of Russian origin. By way of the Pacific have come occasional shipments of gold from Siberia where they formed part of Gen. Kolchak's war chest.

South America and Central America also are making involuntary contributions to this country's vast holdings of the yellow metal, mainly because unsettled economic conditions in Latin-America virtually preclude any other form of payment to this country.

The local Assay Office, a new structure, whose modern equipment includes huge vaults five floors below the street level, now holds upward of $1,000,000 of gold, one-third of which has come from foreign countries.

The machinery of the Assay Office here is working at high pressure in an effort to reduce and refine the foreign bullion and coin. Reports that large quantities of the gold are being shipped to the Philadelphia mint lack official confirmation.

Commenting on this inflow, which some bankers have viewed with apprehension, George E. Roberts, a vice president of the National City Bank and for years Director of the United States Mint, is quoted as saying:

"It is natural that the people of Europe should be sending us their gold. Everybody everywhere owes us money. The easiest way for them to pay, if they can, is in gold."

Pointing to the reduced international value of the British bank note, French and Belgian francs, the Italian lira and the shrinkage almost to the vanishing point of German marks and Austrian kronen, Roberts added:

"So long as the premium on the gold dollar exists and is general, gold will probably continue to flow here in greater or less quantities. It seems incredible, however, that it can long continue at the present rate."

Suggests Policy for U. S.

Paul M. Warburg, a recognized banking authority, now chairman of the newly organized International Acceptance Bank, Inc., says of the gold movement:

"With gold flowing our way, having resulted in an unprecedented accumulation of gold in our country, and with the increasing strength of the Federal reserve system, it would be plainly up to the United States not to hoard its vast banking strength, but to make it available for other countries for the purpose of once more starting the wheels of commerce going."

"America having become the pivot of the world, countries with strongly fluctuating exchanges, in order to do a world trade, would have to lean heavily on American short-term credits. American banks, in granting these credits could well take upon their shoulders a burden amounting to a billion dollars or more and, to that extent, relieve Europe."

"This would be one of the many measures that the United States would have to take in order to bridge the gap now existing between the dollar and other currencies, but on a very comprehensive scale it could safely be undertaken only when potential economic peace would have been re-established in Europe."

"The Peace Negotiations: A Personal Narrative"

Former Secretary of State Says Diplomacy Was So Secret at Paris That the American Commissioners Had to Get Their Information From the Representatives of Other Nations.

By Robert Lansing.

Former Secretary of State in President Wilson's Cabinet.

CHAPTER XXII.

"Intrigue, Plotting, Bargaining, Combining."

FROM the time that the President arrived in Paris up to the time that the commission on the League of Nations made its report—that is, from Dec. 14, 1919, to Feb. 4, 1920—the negotiations regarding the league were conducted with great secrecy. Col. House, the President's collaborator in drafting the Covenant, if he was not, as many believed, the real author, was the only American with whom Mr. Wilson freely conferred and to whom he confided the progress that he was making in his interviews with the foreign statesmen, at many of which interviews the President himself was present. It is true that the President held an occasional conference with the American commissioners, but these conferences were casual and perfunctory in nature and were very evidently not for the purpose of obtaining the opinions and counsel of the commissioners. There was none of the frankness that should have existed between the Chief Executive and his chosen agents and advisers. The impression made was that he summoned the conferences to satisfy the amour propre of the commissioners rather than out of any personal wish to do so.

The consequence was that the American commissioners, other than Col. House, were kept in almost complete ignorance of the preliminary negotiations and were left to gather such information as they were able from the debates of other Powers, who, naturally assuming that the Americans possessed the full confidence of the President, spoke with much freedom. As Mr. Wilson never held a conference with the American Commission from the first meeting of the Commission on the League of Nations to the last, the American commissioners did not know, except indirectly, of the questions at issue or of the progress that was being made. The fact is that, as the Commission on the League met in Col. House's office at the Hotel Crillon, his office force knew far more of the proceedings than did the three American Commissioners who were not present. As the House organization made no effort to hide the fact that they had inside information, the representatives of the press as a consequence frequented the office of Col. House in search of the latest news concerning the Commission on the League of Nations.

Succumbing to Secret Diplomacy.

But, in addition to the embarrassment caused the American Commissioners and the unenviable position in which they were placed by the secrecy with which the President surrounded his intercourse with the foreign statesmen and the proceedings of the Commission on the League of Nations, his secret negotiations caused the majority of the delegates to the conference and the public at large to lose in a large measure their confidence in the actuality of his decision to "open diplomacy."

It is true that he had proclaimed in the first of his 14 points. If the policy of secrecy had ceased with the discussions preliminary to the organization of the conference, or even with those preceding the meetings of the Commission on the League of Nations, criticism and complaint would doubtless have ceased, but as the negotiations progressed the secrecy of the conference increased, culminating at last in the organization of the Council of Four, signatories to the peace, and the exclusion of the councils which directed the proceedings at Paris. Behind closed doors these four individuals, who controlled the policies of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, passed final judgment on the mass of articles which were to enter the treaty of peace, but kept their decisions secret except from the committee which was drafting the articles.

The organization of the Council of Four and the mystery which enveloped its deliberations emphasized as nothing else could have done the secretiveness with which adjustments were being made and compromises were being effected. It directed attention also to the fact that the four great Powers had taken supreme control of setting the terms of peace, that they were primates among the assembled nations and that they intended to have their authority acknowledged. The extraordinary secrecy and arrogation of power by the Council of Four excited astonishment and complaint throughout the body of delegates to the conference, and caused widespread criticism in the press and among the people of many countries.—ROBERT LANSEING.

interpreted to mean failure. The patience of the people is worn threadbare. Their temper has grown ragged and they are sick of whispering diplomats.

"Muttered confidences, secret intrigues and the tactics of the 'rumor-mongers' usually softened the world's wants none of them these days. It dispels and loathes them. What the world asks are honest declarations openly proclaimed. The statesman who seeks to gain his end by tortuous and underground ways is foolish or badly advised. The public man who is sly and secretive rather than frank and bold, whose methods are devious rather than obvious, pursues a dangerous path which leads neither to glory nor to success.

"Secret diplomacy, the bane of the past, is a menace from which man believed to be rid. He who resurrects it invites condemnation. The whole world will rejoice when the day of the whisperer is over."

This note, read at the present time, sounds extravagant in thought and intemperate in expression. It was written under the influence of emotions which had been deeply stirred by the conditions then existing. Time usually softens one's judgments and the passage of events makes less vivid one's impressions. The perspective, however, grows clearer and the proportions more accurate when the obfuscation stands at a distance. While the language of the note might well be changed and made less florid, the thought needs little modification. The public criticism was widespread and outspoken, and from the expressions used it was very evident that there prevailed a general popular disapproval of the way the negotiations were being conducted. The Council of Four won the press-name of "The Olympians," and much was said of "the thick cloud of mystery" which hid them from the anxious multitudes, and of the secrecy which veiled their deliberations.

The newspapers and the correspondents at Paris openly complained and the delegates to the Conference in a more guarded way showed their bitterness at the overlordship assumed by the leading statesmen of the Great Powers and the secretive methods which they employed. It was, as may be gathered from the note quoted, a distressing and depressing time.

In tomorrow's installment Mr. Lansing gives some "concrete examples" of the evils of secret negotiations.

HOUSE AMENDS BUDGET BILL: CREATES A NEW BUREAU

Measure Abolishes Comptroller of the Currency and Makes Successors Tenure Seven Years.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Passed by the House with several changes as adopted by the Senate, the budget bill was ready to go on conference today with prospects for an early agreement on amendments. Chief among the changes in the bill as passed by the House yesterday was a provision to make the proposed budget bureau, which under the Senate bill would be an adjunct of the Treasury Department, an independent bureau.

While providing as does the Senate bill for abolishment of the office of Comptroller of the Treasury and creation in its place of a comptroller general to be selected by the President for a term of seven years, the House measure would make the latter officer subject to removal by a concurrent resolution of Congress not requiring the signature of the President. The Senate bill provides for removal by joint resolution requiring executive approval.

The House retained the Senate provisions for appointment of the director of the proposed budget bureau and his assistant by the President, although voting to make the bureau independent of the Treasury Department.

GEN. WOOD PLANS TO VISIT ALL 47 PROVINCES OF PHILIPPINES

He and Former Governor-General Forbes Estimate Inquiry Into Conditions Will Take Three Months.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA, P. I., May 6.—The inquiry into conditions in the Philippines to be conducted by Major-General Leonard Wood and W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor-General of the Philippines, will require at least three months, these officials said yesterday after their first complete day in the islands.

They expressed their desire to visit all the 47 provinces of the archipelago, if possible, and to hear statements from all who desire to make them.

IMPORTANT IRISH CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN LONDON

Report in Evening Standard Says Prelates and De Valera Will Attend Week-End Session.

MEETING RENEWS HOPE OF PEACE

De Valera and Sir James Craig, Premier-Designate for Ulster, Hold Conference in Dublin.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 6.—The Evening Standard says tonight it hears that a momentous Irish conference will be held in London during the week-end. Distinguished Irish prelates, Eamonn de Valera and another leading Sinn Fein are expected to be present, the newspaper adds.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 6.—Hope that yesterday's meeting in Dublin of Sir James Craig, Premier-Designate for Ulster, and Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, may be a sign of the dawn of peace in Ireland pervades newspaper comment here today. The London Times said that at least five distinct efforts to obtain peace, besides that being carried on by Sir James and De Valera, are going forward simultaneously.

"Publicity will not advance them," the newspaper adds, "but none of those who are making these efforts is laboring entirely in vain."

The Chronicle remarks: "Once admit the definite renitence of Ireland within the empire—on no other basis can negotiations proceed—and the real issue is seen to lie, not between Ireland and England, but between the two Irelands."

The Daily Graphic enthusiastically congratulates Sir James and De Valera and exults by saying: "The Sinn Fein is at its last gasp."

Belfast Unionist Paper's View of Craig-De Valera Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
BELFAST, May 6.—The Unionist Northern Whig says that, while considerable political importance attached to the meeting between Sir James Craig and Eamonn de Valera yesterday, "there is just a danger that some overenthusiastic element may exaggerate the importance of the meeting."

In the opinion of the paper, two points are clear, namely, that there cannot be an Irish republic, and Ulster's rights under the new act cannot be interfered with. "The Whig suggests that De Valera's desire for an interview with the Ulster Leader amounts to a desire for the Sinn Fein that they cannot get a republic."

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, May 6.—The conversation between Sir James Craig and Eamonn de Valera is said in well-informed quarters to have reached an impasse over the question of a republic for Ireland. It is stated De Valera in a lengthy appeal tried to win over Sir James to the idea of a republic for the whole of Ireland. Sir James replied that no negotiations on such a basis could occur, it is asserted, and the interview terminated there.

This would explain the attitude of the Ulster Unionists at their meeting in Belfast today, at which they decided to make no further concessions.

Sir James made the following statement to the meeting:

"My conversation with Mr. de Valera having failed, and Ulster having already by its acceptance of the provisions of the Government of Ireland Act and by its undertaking to ward them, reached the limit of concessions, no further discussion will be entered into. When the Parliament has been established and the Council of Ireland constituted, there will be the necessary constitutional link between Northern and Southern Ireland."

Sir James requested the candidates in the forthcoming elections to hurry a message to the foregoing effect to the loyalist electors throughout the six Ulster counties.

Meeting of the party lasted two hours and was attended by the Ulster members of the British Parliament and the Unionist candidates for the new Irish Parliament. It is understood that Sir James' remarks came from the Sinn Fein.

The Freeman's Journal, in an editorial commenting on the meeting yesterday between Sir James Craig and Eamonn de Valera, says:

"We trust the leaders will not easily lose touch with one another, and that the two men will not readily despair of success. Now that a line of communication has been established, it should be maintained."

DECLARES SHIP NEED IS CHANGE IN LAWS

James A. Farrell Tells Trade Convention We Lost $800,000,000 by Not Selling Fleet.

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., May 6.—In an address this morning on "American Maritime Policy" at the National Foreign Trade Council convention James A. Farrell of New York, chairman of the council and president of the United States Steel Corporation, told the delegates the future of American merchant marine development is at stake, that the Government lost $800,000,000 by not selling its merchant fleet when the armistice was signed, suggested an international maritime conference and advocated a revision of American shipping laws.

Farrell spoke in part as follows: "The signing of the armistice on Nov. 11, 1918, found us with a fleet of 16,000,000 deadweight tons, built and under contract. Efforts were made to induce the Shipping Board to sell a large portion of the fleet to foreigners. Not taking advantage of this, the Government missed its market and, it is estimated, lost a chance to realize at least $800,000,000, being the difference in the market value of the tonnage of steel ships which could have been sold at that time and the appraised value today.

Many Ships Idle.

"Serious consideration must be given to the problem of maintaining our merchant marine. Even with a temporary improvement in ocean freights, the world's idle tonnage cannot be absorbed under three years. All maritime nations are affected. Approximately 7,000,000 tons of the world's carrying capacity is laid up out of a total of 60,000,000 tons (of which 5,000,000 tons is still under construction).

"It might serve a useful purpose to ourselves and to the world to bring about an international conference of the maritime nations to endeavor to build up trade routes from every Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific port to practically every port in the world, is expensive and impracticable.

"Until trade revives and opportunity exists for obtaining a fair sales price for the fleet, an early retirement of the Shipping Board and liquidation of its shipping business seems impracticable.

Would Change Shipping Laws.

"A partial solution to one of the difficulties would be to withdraw the Shipping Board from all but supervisory activity by chartering the steamers to reputable and experienced operators.

"The main factor in determining whether we can compete successfully with foreign tonnage lies largely in our shipping laws. The latter are not only strangling our ocean-going ships, but are affecting the carriers on the Great Lakes. Our ships must be manned by competent crews sufficient in number to operate economically and safely and American seamen should enjoy the best possible conditions, receiving in wages reasonable return for service performed. But it must be equally obvious that provisions of law which require American vessels to maintain larger crews—65 per cent of whom must be licensed men—than is the case with foreign vessels, subjects American vessels to a serious disadvantage, estimated at five per cent on the capital investment."

CONSTABLE, HELD UP WHEN IN AUTO WITH GIRL, KILLS MAN

By the Associated Press. JOPLIN, Mo., May 6.—After Clarence Epperson, until two months ago an inmate of the insane asylum at Nevada, had commanded Frank Elliott, a constable of Duwag, Mo., and Miss Gladys Denton of Neosho, his girl companion, to alight from a motor car near Neosho last night, and then snapped a shotgun directly at them, Elliott drew a revolver and shot the man dead.

Elliott said he had never seen him before and thought robbery was the motive. Elliott was not detained by the authorities.

NEGRO CHARGED WITH KILLING WOMAN AND BURNING BODY

Friend Says Janitor Admitted Cutting Victim's Throat and Throwing Dismembered Corpse in Furnace.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 6.—Phillip Louis Bowman, a 33-year-old negro, is held at police headquarters in connection with the disappearance of a young negro woman, who was known as his wife.

Bowman has been employed in a dance hall as janitor. He was arrested Wednesday, following complaints to the police from a sister of Estella Bowers, the missing woman, that she had not been seen since Feb. 14. She left her sister's home in response to a telephone call from Bowman. A black handbag she carried was found in the negro's room.

Detectives learned from another negro that Bowman had told him, according to the man's statement, that he had induced the woman to come to his room, where he had choked her, cut her throat, dismembered her body and burned it in the furnace of the building.

Search through the ashes and cinders beneath the furnace revealed several hairpins, small pieces of bone and a corset stay.

A pearl-handled knife with a smear of blood on the blade also was found.

MAN HELD UP BY THREE NEGROES IN AN AUTO

Grocer Routs Three Robbers With Shots—Several Burglaries Reported.

Albert Cutter of 4053 Olive street reported to the police that at 11:15 o'clock last night, while he was walking in the 4100 block on Enright avenue, three negroes in an automobile drove up to the curb and commanded him to halt. Two covered him with revolvers and the third searched him and took $6 in cash and his watch and chain, valued at $75. The robbers escaped in the automobile.

At 10:30 p. m. Charles Dailey of 2121 Adams street was held up by two men who got out of an automobile. He ran through a gangway and escaped from the robbers, one of whom had pointed a revolver at him.

Grocer Shoots at Robbers. Anton Breuning of 2513 Herbert street, manager of a Kroger store at 2516 Coleman street, told policemen he fired six shots at three men who entered his store at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. Two of the men, he said, pointed revolvers at him. When he fired one of the men fell as though wounded. The other two dragged him out and all escaped.

Miss Loretta Keefe of 2233 Barrett street reported that at 8:30 p. m. while she was walking on Barrett street near Grand avenue a young man dragged her into an alley and took $4 from her purse. She said he handed the purse back to her.

Gus Fischer of 823 Hickory street was passing the home of his cousin, Frank Obermark, at 907 La Salle street, at 8 p. m. when he saw a strange man in the house. He ran a block to his home and got a revolver. Returning to the Obermark home, he fired a shot through the front door. Obermark arrived home about this time and he and Fischer went to the rear of the house and saw three men run out the back door and escape. The house had been ransacked. The robbers got $3 in cash and left behind clothing and silverware which they had wrapped in bundles to carry away.

Several Burglaries Reported. Thomas Spain of 2244 Ohio avenue reported that burglars entered his home in the absence of the family last night and stole furs, clothing and jewelry valued at $850. Neighbors reported they saw a negro in the yard after the family went out.

Other burglaries in which jewelry and clothing were taken were reported from the homes of Julius Weis, 5139 Cabanne avenue; Mrs. Evelyn Halbert, 3517A Chouteau avenue, and William E. Bent, 2317 Minnesota avenue.

A portable building at the Cote Brillante School, 2616 Cora avenue, was entered yesterday afternoon and a United States flag, paints, insect specimens and lead pencils were stolen.

MAN, HELD FOR INQUIRY, FREED

Prisoner, Re-arrested After Acquittal, Not Wanted in Kansas City.

Herman Volker, known also as Lohman, 28 years old, of 3006 Park avenue, who was arrested Wednesday after his acquittal on a charge of holding up and robbing Adolph H. Grinke, secretary-treasurer of the Star Packing Co., 1249 South Broadway, on Dec. 22, last, at Thirteenth and Hickory streets, was released by the police last night on receipt of a message from the Kansas City (Mo.) police, which stated Volker was not wanted there on any charge. Volker originally was arrested in Kansas City in March after his photograph had been identified here by Grinke. The Kansas City police at that time asked that Volker be held after the courts here were through with him.

Nuxated Iron Imitator Comes To Grief in U. S. Court ORDERED TO PAY $1,000 DAMAGES and to cease using the words "Nux and Iron" on the fraudulent imitation. Another Nuxated Iron imitator was recently caught in Tennessee and given a heavy fine for violation of the criminal law—But the rascals are not all caught yet so beware of substitutes—How to tell the genuine.

IN LIFE THERE ARE "FAKE" DIAMONDS AND REAL DIAMONDS. For real diamonds there are always imitations and substitutes, but nobody ever heard of a substitute for a "fake" diamond—IT'S THE THINGS OF REAL VALUE THAT ARE AFFLICTED WITH IMITATIONS.

Nuxated Iron has its substitutes and fraudulent imitations, the reason is plain. NUXATED IRON IS ORGANIC IRON LIKE THE IRON IN YOUR BLOOD and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It is far more expensive to manufacture Nuxated Iron than ordinary metallic or mineral iron which people usually take, and which is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron.

OVER 4,000,000 PEOPLE ANNUALLY ARE USING NUXATED IRON TO HELP GIVE THEM RICH RED BLOOD, REVITALIZE THEIR WORKING, EXHAUSTED NERVES AND INCREASE THEIR BODILY AND MENTAL VIGOR. The fraudulent imitator reasoned that by offering a product with a similar name for a little less money which he claimed to be just as good, that he could get thousands of people into buying it, and thousands have been led out after they failed to get the benefits they have been accustomed to receive from the genuine organic Nuxated Iron. Therefore, if you have taken some other iron product without results, this does not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you—try it on our guarantee below.

At last some of the fraudulent imitations of Nuxated Iron have been hard hit. One has been ordered by the United States District Court to pay One Thousand Dollar Damages and forever to cease using the words "Nux and Iron." Another has been given a heavy fine for violation of the criminal code. (We refrain from giving wide publicity to their names because we hope they will now reform and become honest, upright citizens.) Beware of anybody who offers you something else which he claims is cheaper and just as good. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron and see how much you have gained. Thousands of nervous, run-down persons, who were ailing all the while, have surprisingly increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time in many instances. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

JERSEYVILLE MEN ARE FINED FOR DESTROYING FOXES' DEN

Farmers Who Hunt Animals After Raids on Poultry Penalized Under New Illinois Law. Virgil Estes and Frank Bechtold of Jerseyville, Ill., were fined in a Justice of the Peace court yesterday on a charge of disturbing and destroying the den of a family of foxes. The complaint against Estes and Bechtold was made by State Deputy Game Warden Porter. The foxes had been depredating flocks of chickens. Estes and Bechtold found the den on the land belonging to Mrs. L. V. S. Ames of St. Louis, near Elsah, and dug out nine young foxes. Estes and Bechtold pleaded guilty, but said they were ignorant of the newly enacted game laws protecting fur-bearing animals. They were fined the minimum of $15 each.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON ON RHINE OPEN

American Sport Has Followed Army to Coblenz and Put Other Games "on Shelf."

By the Associated Press.
COBLENZ, May 6.—The baseball season on the Rhine has opened and now is in full swing, for the national game follows the American flag. Uncle Sam's army here has a "big league" of its own and, with the coming of spring, baseball has taken precedence over all other forms of sport.

Coblenz has three teams entered in the league, while nine from Andernach, Neuwied, Engers, Mayen and Syn make up the eight teams. Two games are played each week by all teams and, while it is too early in the season to predict whether any Ty Cobbs or Babe Ruths will be developed, the brand of baseball which is being dished out here would compare favorably with high-class amateur or semiprofessional teams which play Saturday games in medium-sized cities in the United States.

Besides the regular league, every company has its baseball nine and from these are taken from time to time ambitious youngsters to graduate in the "big league."

Boxing and soccer football, which have been the forte during the past winter, have been relegated to the second place. The Third Battalion of the Eighth Infantry won the soccer championship from the Second Battalion of the Eighth Infantry and the footballs have now been put in campfire until the fall.

Boxing Retains Vogue.
Boxing, in spite of the hot weather, still retains much of the vogue it has enjoyed during the winter. At the Young Men's Christian Association Liberty Hut a few evenings ago between 4000 and 5000 officers and enlisted men with Gen. Jan occupying a ringside seat, gathered to see a 10-round bout between Leo Huggins of Jersey City, the feather-weight champion of the American Army of Occupation, and Denard, the French champion, who had come up from Mayen to try conclusions with the American.

The French champion won and, although the doughboys were greatly disappointed at the defeat of their favorite, they cheered the winner with as much enthusiasm as if he had been one of them. Some pretty fair fighters have been developed.

The basketball season closed early in April and the pennant was won by the Eighth Infantry. Officers have become addicted to the polo habit. Four teams are playing twice weekly games and the Commanding General is taking a deep interest in the games. He is encouraging young officers to take up riding, as he told the correspondent it was "one branch of the service in which we were somewhat behind the other branches of occupation on the Rhine." This deficiency is being promptly remedied, however.

Only Bookmaking Absent.
The spring trials of the Coblenz Racing Club, which took place early in April, developed some spirited racing over the half-mile track. Forty-four horses, ridden by American army officers, were entered in the five races, and but for the absence of bookmaking, the affair would have looked like real racing at any well-regulated track.

The Y. M. C. A. is maintaining 26 tennis courts throughout the area and nine courts in Coblenz. A golf course with a well-appointed clubhouse is in operation at Airdrome Field, a few miles out of Coblenz.

Another well-frequented spot is army library, composed of 35,000 volumes, under the management of the Y. M. C. A. and which is opened to officers and men from 1 to 10 p. m.

The Salvation Army Canteen and Men's Club is also very popular with the boys.

Both welfare organizations are doing their utmost to make the American soldier in Germany feel some-what nearer home and it is the consensus of opinion, from the commanding General down, that they are doing wonderful work and that their departure from the field would create a void which it would be impossible to fill.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL SAYS BUILDING ONLY WILL REDUCE RENTS

Barrett in St. Louis to Consider Time and Place of Holding Hearings on Materials Situation.

Attorney-General Barrett came to St. Louis today to arrange for the hearings which, he announced last week, he would conduct to permit associations of manufacturers and dealers in building materials to state their practices and purposes.

He gave out a statement, after his arrival, in which he declared that rent laws copied after the New York law would not solve the problem of high rents, but that reduction of building prices and a consequent resumption of building would. The Board of Aldermen recently passed a resolution requesting Gov. Hyde to include rent and housing in his call for the coming special session of the Legislature and has been collecting evidence of rent profiteering to submit to the Legislature.

Statement by Barrett. Attorney-General Barrett's statement follows: "The real solution of the rent problem is bringing down the cost of building. It must be ascertained whether prices of building material are being kept up by unlawful methods. No other question can be of so much importance at this moment to the great mass of the people and that is why I feel justified in turning the energies of my office from other matters into this investigation.

"No other remedy can be effective in the rent problem while there exists an actual housing shortage and while the people are unable to build homes of their own. For instance, I suggested to the Assessor of St. Louis that he distribute taxes so as to put the proper share on those landlords who have doubled or trebled their rents. Several answered that a tax increase would be followed by still larger rent increases and that probably is true. It is argued that housing laws similar to those of New York and Washington would solve the problem, but I note that one real estate dealer already is advertising that the result would be cessation of further building by landlords with a resulting increase in rents.

"All of these artificial remedies produce evils as bad as those they are intended to cure. Laws discriminating against property holders are as bad as laws discriminating against tenants. The law ought not to discriminate against either class. The law ought to protect both.

High Prices the Key Log. "The laws of supply and demand are the normal and natural forces, and if left to operate freely will, in themselves, bring for regulation. Nothing else will. Opening the channel to free competition in building will bring all prices to natural levels where neither the landlord nor the tenant will receive more or less than his just share.

"The key log in the jam is the high cost of building, which ought to come down, and which must come down. The result will be a natural remedy which will cure ills of landlord and tenant alike. This investigation is directed to find what unlawful combinations, if any, are keeping prices up. It is the question of building prices that is all-important."

Barrett said that the hearings likely would be in Jefferson City, but could be in St. Louis. He said that one association had requested that none be held before May 20, but that he would consult others as to time.

Barrett invited Circuit Attorney Sidener and Edward A. Feehan, a special counsel employed by the Building Trades Council for the investigation of building prices, to confer with him during the day in his office in the Third National Bank building.

The Chief Thinks This Explanation Ought to Be Made Regarding Union Electric Light & Power Company's Dividend Earnings

"I'm afraid," he said, "that when our advertisements tell the public Union Electric earns its 7% preferred stock dividends six times over each year, some folks will get the wrong idea that we are earning six times as much as we should. Perhaps we better make that point a bit clearer."

Union Electric DOES earn its preferred stock dividends six or more times over—did it last year and is doing it this year. But that does not mean Union Electric is earning too much money.

For example, Union Electric last year earned, from all branches of its business and its investments, just a shade over 7% on its whole investment. That 7% was net income for interest and dividends, after operating costs, taxes and depreciation had been taken care of.

Of that 7% on the Company's whole investment, 6.1% was earned by the State-appraised, State-regulated property of the Company; the other one-seventh, or 1% of the whole investment, was earned by other branches of the business, not subject to State regulation.

Out of this 7% net income, the Company paid interest on its bonds and notes and had enough left, for preferred and common stock dividends, to pay the 7% preferred stock dividends six times over.

Of course the preferred stock dividends, on about $3,000,000 of the preferred shares then outstanding, were actually paid only once; the rest of the dividend earnings were paid on the $11,000,000 of common stock, less a small margin carried to surplus.

As Union Electric preferred stock has first claim on dividend earnings each year, up to 7%, before any dividend can be paid on the common stock, the earning of the preferred dividends six times over makes the preferred stock dividend about as safe as anything can be.

With safety like this, buyers of Union Electric 7% preferred stock get these other advantages:

1—The dividends on these shares—$7 a year, payable $1.75 every 90 days—are exempt from the Missouri State income tax, and the Company pays the normal 4% and 8% federal income taxes on them.

2—Each $100 share is backed by and has first claim on an equity of over $373—more than $300 of it in State-appraised, income-producing public service property, kept always in good condition.

3—The Company protects buyers of these shares against loss, in case they need to sell the shares, by reselling them without charging anything for the service.

These advantages make Union Electric 7% preferred stock, in our judgment, a permanent income investment, for either large or small investors, that has few equals and no superiors anywhere in the United States.

These shares sell for $100 apiece, whether you buy one or a thousand. With a single exception they are, so far as we know, the only 7% preferred stock shares selling at par anywhere in the United States—and they are selling at par strictly on their merits. We think St. Louis district folks will be glad to know that a St. Louis public service institution, serving well and cheaply as compared with other large American cities, has gained this high standing. Our ten-monthly-payment plan, by the way, is helping a good many men and women to acquire these shares out of current savings.

TRIPLE A GOLFERS TO
OPEN SEASON TOMORROW
OVER IMPROVED COURSE

The Triple A Club will open its competitive season tomorrow and Sunday over its nine-hole course in Forest Park, which has been improved with several new greens and by shifting the tees to lengthen several holes. The competition will be a blind bogey tournament. Players will pick their handicaps at the first tee and after the last man is in bogey will be determined by a draw. Prizes also will be awarded for best gross score, holes in par and under par and for other freak features to be announced when the last duffer has replaced his last divot.

The course is in excellent condition. Several trees which always got in the way of the well-known perfect drive have been removed. A notable change is on the long fourth hole, where the green has been made larger. The tee has been moved back and with the course slow from the recent rains it now takes a terrific straight drive and a good brassie to get within pitching distance.

New ground rules will govern and divot mongers are asked to mark them and mark them well before they depart on their journey.

The course is in great condition. Donald Harrison has been working night and day to correct books and crooked elbows and off-balance twists. Elmer Harrison has the clubs bright and shiny, and properly balanced. It looks like a great year for the A. A. golfers.

Hafner Shines On Track for Pikers

Washington U. Junior Negotiates 440 Yards in 50.45
Seconds in Dual Meet.

The improvement of Dick Hafner, a Washington University junior, as a quarter-mile runner was once again asserted on Francis Field, yesterday afternoon, when he ran his best race of the year in the dual meet with the Epsilon Eta Club team.

Hafner has won his event in dual meets with Rolls, Drake and Epsilon Eta. The Rolls event had been conceded to White, a Miner, who has regularly won this competition for the past three years. It was in this race that the Pikeaway runner came from a bad third at the halfway mark and won out handily. At Drake he had no competition, as was the case yesterday.

The dual meet yesterday went to the Pikers, 84 to 52. From the Washington standpoint, the second best individual performance was that of Dean Leffler in the running high jump. Leffler finished second in this event, forcing Ryan of the opposition to 71 inches. It was the first time that he had reached 70 inches in competition and the performance came just after he had finished two hurdle races. Seventy inches is practically certain of a place in the Valley jump.

The summaries follow:
120-YARD HURDLES—Kinsey (Epsilon), won; Leffler (Washington), second; Williams (Washington), third. Time, 15.4-5s.

100-YARD DASH—Van Sickle (Epsilon), won; Trumm (Epsilon), second; Drake (Washington), third. Time, 10.2-5s.

ONE-MILE RUN—Tremlett (Washington), won; Lynn (Washington), second; George (Epsilon), third. Time, 45.2-5s.

440-YARD DASH—Hafner (Washington), won; Rowley (Washington), second; Murphy (Epsilon), third. Time, 50.4-5s.

220-YARD HURDLES—Trumm (Epsilon), won; Leffler (Washington), second; Williams (Washington), third. Time, 2m. 54.4-5s.

350-YARD RUN—Hedgway (Epsilon), won; Schultz (Washington), second; Woods (Washington), third. Time, 2m. 54.4-5s.

MILE RELAY—Washington won. Hoxland, Crowder, O'Brien and Hafner ran for the Pikers.

TWO-MILE RUN—Rolls (Washington), won; Tremlett (Washington), second; Everly (Washington), third. Time, 15m. 37.4-5s.

ONE-HALF MILE RELAY—Washington won; Reichard, Rowley, Drake and Bier ran for the Pikers. Time, 1m. 33.2-5s.

POLARIS—Miller (Washington), won; Kinsey (Epsilon), second; Thurner (Washington), third. Height, 10 feet.

HIGH JUMP—Ryan (Epsilon), won; Leffler (Washington), second; Kinsey (Epsilon), third. Height, 71 inches.

DISCUS—Kremer (Washington), won; Deeds (Washington), second; Trumm (Epsilon), third. Distance, 128 inches.

Lower Golf Ball Prices

The famous Dunlop "31," formerly sold at $1.10 is now offered at the extra-low price of 90c while our stock lasts—as it is a trifle too heavy for the latest requirements for U. S. G. A. tournaments.

Dunlop "29" can now be bought for $1.00. It is exactly the same ball for which you formerly paid $1.10 and is, by the way, one of the very few popular, high-grade balls meeting the new U. S. G. A. standard size and weight.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Business continued comparatively small on the curb market today, the bulk of the trading being for the account of the pools in several issues, but even in these shares price-changes were confined within narrow limits. Commission Houses reported less business than in several weeks and it was apparent that the professional element was not so active as those operators of the market because they had been less than honest about activities were inclined to hold off. The market thus came into a 10 to 12 better than just fair.

Inside purchases for pool interests came quite some advance there was a bid, but after profit-taking, the market was a reaction higher but most of the other interest in petroleum, Skelly and Shilling
Petroleum, were in the market.
Standard Oil group was steady and about steady.

There was more interest than usual in the price shares of the list, with some of the low-priced shares being active. A reaction was British-American fair active in an advance,
Canadian inquiry appeared in an advance,
shares.

National Tin was the feature of the mining market, being in excellent demand and advancing a new year, but price changes were small. The iron was steady.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THERE ARE PEOPLE AND PEOPLE.
There was a certain manager
Whose shows were mostly girls,
And girls who wore but little more
Than brown and golden curls.
He took the show to old New York
And, simple truth to tell,
Though critics panned it out of hand
It really did quite well.
For though the somewhat human race
We do not like to knock,
It's really true that quite a few
Are fond of shows that shock.

There was another manager
Who chuckled when he got
A play that had a very bad
Or wholly vicious plot.
He took the show to old New York,
And though folks more or less
Were scandalized, as he surmised,
It made a big success.

Another manager put on
A play of simple life.
The sort of show to which you'd go
And take your kids and wife.
And now there're crowds around the door
Who clamor and entreat,
And think they've struck a run of luck
If they can get a seat.
For though some members of our race
Are low and base and mean,
There's more, you know, who like a show
That's absolutely clean.

ANY RATE THEY MAKE THEMSELVES.

The railroads are willing to accept business at any rate.

PRACTICALLY NOTHING.

Hotel prices in the big cities have dropped so far that the average clerk can buy a dinner for himself and wife for less than two weeks' wages.

OBSOLETE.

Since the booze raiders went to work the expression, "You can search me!" has disappeared from our language.

WONDER WHAT MY BROTHER THINKS ABOUT ON HIS BIRTHDAY?—By BRIGGS

Brief Reform.

"What sort of woman is Mrs. Gadder?"
"The usual kind, I believe."
"Yes?"
"After the monthly bills come in and she's had a heart-to-heart talk with Mr. Gadder she practices strict economy for 24 hours."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

It's Easier.

"My boy graduates from college this year, and I expect to take him into the office with me."
"You'll start him at the bottom and let him work up, I suppose."
"No, I think I'll start him at the top and let him work down."—New York Sun.

Judging by the Pictures.

"Is this play a musical comedy?" asked the man at the box office.
"Certainly," replied the polite but weary ticket salesman. "What did you think it was?"
"Being a little nearsighted and not able to read all the print, I thought maybe it was a swimming contest."—Washington Star.

Well Equipped.

"This under secretary knows how to handle people."
"Yes?"
"Why, he's a born diplomat."
"Not born, perhaps, but he's had a great deal of valuable experience. In the old days he was a bartender."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
